Port Arthur Man Sues Pleasure Pier Manager

BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 5.—The case of A. B. Avery of Port Arthur originally tried against the city of Port Arthur finally came to trial Tuesday morning before Judge E. A. McDowell. The case has been a number of times, but has always been passed over before.

The case was first filed jointly against the city of Port Arthur and C. E. Duane, former manager of the Pleasure Pier, but on a demurrer filed by Wistner and White, Port Arthur attorneys, the city was held not liable for the death of Miss Avery which occurred on April 8, 1920.

It is charged that the operators of the pleasure pier were negligent in leaving the bridge across the ship channel suspended and in the darkness, the driver of an automobile in which Miss Avery was riding, drove off the bank and into the channel where Miss Avery was drowned. Damages to the sum of $25,000 have been asked for by her mother and family.

The first witness testifying this morning declared that at the time of the accident, the car was being driven at a speed of not over 15 miles an hour and that this speed was slackened near the approach to the bridge. C. W. Howitt represents the plaintiffs in the case and C. A. Lord of Beaumont and Assistant City Attorney Fred White of Port Arthur the defendants.

ADAMS ASKS RETRIAL
Special to The News.
BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 5.—The amended petition, requesting a new trial for Verlie Adams, Grayson, who recently given a 5-year sentence for the murder of Miss Haggard and P. O. Kial was filed in 58th district court Monday. February 16 is the last day in which Judge O'Brien can pass on the petition. The petition sets forth several alleged errors in the proceedings.

WITNESSES RETURN
Special to The News.
BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 5.—A number of city police officers, Night Captain A. C. Dunham, Special Officer W. E. Jones and Ray Sidwell returned Tuesday morning from Tyler where they were called as witnesses in the case of M. T. Gonzales and William Nizer, federal prohibition officers, charged with murder in connection with the shooting of the late H. E. Shivers. A continuance in the case was granted to May 19 at Sherman by Randolph Bryant, the result of an agreement between him and Gallo-way Calhoun, county attorney of Smith county, who represents the state.

DR. CUNNINGHAM STRICKEN
BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 5.—Dr. W. W. Cunningham, physician and surgeon, was stricken with paralysis here this morning and little hope is held for his recovery. Dr. Cunningham, who is near 70 years of age has a wide reputation as a surgeon. A score of local physicians were at his bedside today.

DEPUTY RECOVERING
BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 5.—Deputy Sheriff B. M. Stark will in all probability be permitted to leave Hotel Dixie Wednesday morning according to his attending physician. Stark was taken to the hospital Saturday after having been accidentally shot through the arm. It was believed at first that it would be necessary to amputate his arm but he has improved steadily and is now believed to be out of danger.

EXECUTIONER DUE AT STATE PENITENTIARY
HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Feb. 5.—A warden who will execute five condemned negroes in the state penitentiary here Friday was believed to have been selected today.

Walter Miller, of Columbus, former sheriff of Johnson county, arrived at the penitentiary Monday. It is understood he is Governor Nix's selection and will be elected warden at a meeting of the prison commissioners Wednesday.

Teeth Stains Removed
—for Few Cents!
No More Yellow Teeth—New Discovery Whitens Teeth Instantly

A new harmless treatment has been discovered which—often in only three minutes—gives dull, yellowish teeth a beautiful pearly whiteness. This new treatment, called Bleachodont Combination, consists of a mild safe liquid and a new kind of paste. The liquid cleanses or softens the stains, while the paste gently removes them, and prevents the formation of new stains. Tobacco stains often completely disappear after a few applications.

Bleachodont Combination is a new scientific product, perfected by dental chemists who knew that there must be a better, safer and less expensive way to clean teeth than the old way of having them scraped or rubbed by gritty abrasives. Bleachodont Combination is especially recommended for children's teeth, as their teeth are in a soft formative period during which gritty pastes or powders should be avoided, and only a safe mild cleanser like Bleachodont Combination, which bleaches out stains but has no effect on the enamel, should be used. Bleachodont Combination does not affect enamel for its safe ingredients are intended to act only on the cause of the teeth stain—a substance called "tannin" which collects on teeth and forms a hard coating or stain.

Get Bleachodont Combination today, for just a few cents at all good drug and department stores such as Coastal Drug Co., Hart Drug Co., McMillan & Glass, Service Drug Co., City Drug Co.

HOSPITAL SUIT UP AT BEAUMONT

$12,000 Sought in Death of Hazel Byron

BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 5.—Hearing in the case of W. C. Brown, administrator of the estate of Hazel Byron, continued Tuesday morning in 58th district court before Judge George C. O'Brien.

Damages to the amount of $12,000 are asked by the plaintiffs in the case for the death of Hazel Byron, who the plaintiffs allege died as the result of alleged negligent attention at the hospital in 1920.

According to the petition filed, the young woman was taken to the hospital and underwent a serious operation. It is charged that a young girl, not a nurse, employed by the hospital took care of Miss Byron and as the result of strong medicine given her she died in May, 1921.

A number of Beaumont physicians have been called to testify in the case. The local firm of Morris and Barnes represent the plaintiffs and C. T. and F. J. Duff, the defendants.

SCOUT BANQUET

"Director" Danneberg, O. O. Palmer, credited the honor for Lloyd Vestal, guitarist and Arnold Swenson, saxophonist. Halton announced they'd play Beethoven's "Elegie," but "Yes, We Have No Bananas" was played by the orchestra.

Members of the Hawk Patrol "took off" the telephone system in a breezy few minutes burlesque, and were followed by the Sea Wolves presentation of Owen King and Henry Lawrence in an exhibition boxing bout.

Couldn't Get Start.
Emmett Lacy, law member of the Bob White Patrol, led in a song, "Mother Lacy" half a dozen times before Lacy "got ready," then finding the accompaniment gone, informed the audience the stunt couldn't be given.

During the banquet, Culpepper, director of singing for the Scout council, led a number of Scout songs. Miss Eula Saunders, instructor at Franklin school, playing the accompaniment. Among those attending the banquet and stunts last night were Mr. and Mrs. Davis Button, Captain and Mrs. D. W. Edler, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Sims, V. M. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Reed, J. THIS WOMAN'S MARVELLOUS RECOVERY
All Due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Truman, Minn.—"I was badly run-down and had pains in my side and back; sometimes I couldn't hardly move around in bed. My husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking it I was so much better I could do all my housework again. I do my housework, have a garden, raise chickens, and in harvest time I worked in the field and helped pick corn. Sometimes I do chores and milk. I took the Vegetable Compound before and after my four-months-old baby was born, and it has always helped me wonderfully. I believe there is no better medicine made for women, and I hope every woman will give it a fair trial."

—Mrs. AUGUST R. WIEDERHOF, R. No. 2, Box 84, Truman, Minnesota.

Women suffering from troubles so common to their sex should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

The Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has relieved women of such troubles for the past fifty years. For sale by druggists everywhere.

STORM LEVEES BEFORE Y M B L

Committee Scores Inadequacy of Present Protection

That the present storm levee is inadequate and that any storm two days off could reach Port Arthur and entail destruction before the present levee could be brought up to 3-foot height, was the report read before the YMBL directorate today noon by Sam H. Crosby, chairman of a committee named some time ago to investigate the general conditions of levees here.

The directorate heard the report while the body dined at the New Lakeview hotel.

Cross 12-Foot Levee
"Port Arthur should ultimately have a 12-foot storm levee," Crosby asserted in his remarks, "but present taxation is prohibitive to the immediate establishment of that type. However, the present levee should not be so irregular, but should be brought up to the 9-foot height it obtains in several spots."

Crosby's report urged co-operation on the part of citizens and city administration to maintain a 3-foot levee, and suggested among other things the following:

Items to Remedy
Maintenance of the spill banks on the canal front.
Reinforcement along the canal front.
Repair of all levees undermined or otherwise inadequate.
Completion of the present storm levee.
Construction of levees to the proper height where all traction lines cross.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY THE GLORY OF YOUNG MEN IN THEIR STRENGTH; AND THE BEAUTY OF OLD MEN IS THE GRAY HEAD.—PROV. 20:29.

The Editorial Mind

However, comma— Odds and Ends and Comment on Our Morning Mail

Electrification of motor trucks in the east has brought about a considerable problem. Here's something you may not know. More single men operate motor trucks than married men. More married men operate electric trucks than single men.

Now, what has the state of being married or unmarried got to do with it? Well, it has. There's an answer.

The single man who came off the motor truck to operate the electric vehicle was a fish out of water. "How can you love a piece of tin and battery like you do an engine?" he asks.

Whereupon he goes and gets married as an antidote to his loneliness.

Some of the older Port Arthur boys can remember when motor trucks succeeded horses. The affection given old Dobbin was hard to transfer to the new contraption.

Perhaps some of the wives wouldn't be very tactful, but as long as we keep this to ourselves fellows, how're they going to find out?

From China comes a little report of a big dog ture.

In K'ang, Kiangai, during a recent small pox epidemic, medical authorities were working to protect the community by inoculating all inhabitants against the disease, and the over-worked doctors and nurses were in dire need of assistance.

At this point an American lad, a member of Scout Troop 1, at the Kiating American school, offered his services, which were promptly accepted. He set a record by washing the arms of 1000 coolies in preparation for their vaccination.

The Boy Scout movement is a great institution. Port Arthur has several hundred of its boys in active Scout work and some day they will be citizens of which their parents may be proud.

At the twig inclines, so the tree is bent.

The public apitied man, in a broad sense, never asks for pay in the obligations he owes his community.

"Does soap demand pay for cleansing human hands?" he asks. Good communities are also clean communities, made clean by men and women who make the same profit in it as they do their homes.

You might be interested to learn in this connection that from William Cooper Procter, the man for whom Procter street was named, declared that we're getting cleaner.

Some 2,000 millions pounds of soap and soap products are now being consumed annually by the 22,000,000 families in the United States, and it costs the average family but $10 a year to keep clean, he says in a report to the National Foreign Trade Council on our desk.

That's not very much money, come to think about it.

There's little excuse for being dirty when it is so easy to keep clean, laundry and all, for 3 cents a day per family.

The materialist tells us that human emotions are but chemical reactions, through our conglomeration of brain and nerve cells, of what we eat. Each of us is a piece of vitalized machinery, a walking laboratory which has created its own successful experiment. This is highly technical but it is interesting to know that hard fact men with education and thought can come to a conclusion that in few mere automations of the human race.

Personally, we prefer to take credit for our thoughts, especially when they are good ones. It is hardly true, of course, that food sometimes does make bad ones, neighbors for a stance.

Do you remember when you were a child how you made sodawater at home? A glass of water, a touch of soda and vinegar, a little vanilla, and it fizzed. The first, of course, was due to chemical process. Do you believe that your thoughts are the result of "fizzing" in your brain as the result of nourishment from food carried there by the blood-flow?

YALE FACULTY VOTES DRY BUT ONLY BY 3 VOTES

Faculty of Yale College has voted dry, for prohibition law enforcement and against the modification of the Volstead act. The faculty voted eighty-six for enforcement, eighty-three for modification and forty-eight for repeal.

Connecticut is said to be the land of steady habits. In that state the Yankee farmer loves his cider and he doesn't care how hard it grows. Connecticut never did take kindly to prohibition but it must have been a sad shock to Dr. Atticus Webb of Texas when he read in the public prints that the faculty of Yale voted dry by only three votes.

College professors are uplifters as well as educators. They are welfare workers as well as worshipful masters of their youthful flocks. They are walking guideposts of the age in which they live for the lowbrows who are ever in a mighty majority. If half the highbrows are wet, why damn the lowbrows for clamoring for something stronger than water?

W. J. B. has made a smoke screen of evolution to conceal his real plans and programs. He has picked Murphree of Florida for standard bearer of the democratic hosts this year. Murphree may not know it but he is the Bryan goat now in training to be the rider of the democratic donkey for the sweepstakes prize in November.

Platform: Down with the ape-man, down with the beerkey, away with the winebibber, throttle the whiskey drinker, and make our father William lord of all the children of Uncle Sam.

Genius is oft times discovered in lonely spots. Murphree for a time, taught the young idea how to shout at Van Alstyne. Look at him now, buried in the Everglades until W. J. B. dragged him out of the thicket.

It is impossible for an immortal to bury himself and hide his light under a bushel. Fame drags him out of his lair and exposes him to the world in all his nakedness.

WALSH ON GUARD

Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana is the Nemesis ever on the trail of the Teapot Dome conspirators. Cato Sells who was Indian Commissioner eight years when Woodrow Wilson was in flower, declared Walsh the ablest lawyer in the American senate as well as the foremost champion of the peoples rights.

He had been on the trail for months before he bagged the game. He cornered Falk, he asked McLean where Falk got the game, he chased Sinclair out of the country, he forced young Roosevelt to resign, he has asked for the resignation of Daugherty and Denby and he dragged the Doherty secret from the heart of the California petroleum king who made millions in Mexico, millions in California and who hoped to make a hundred million dollars, according to his own testimony, by working a naval oil reserve which he had leased from the not overly fastidious Falk of New Mexico.

Walsh was born in the west, he was schooled in the west, he is saturated with the virile patriotism and rugged honesty of the west and he has made history for Walsh as well as history for his country by exploiting the amazing and almost incredible transactions of the principal conspirators in what was known as the "Teapot Dome mystery". It isn't a mystery now. It has played hell with the fortunes as well as the reputations of many individuals.

Harry F. Sinclair's verdict is that the "entire situation is a political move and a case of American politics." Sinclair isn't even an oily humorist. The entire situation is a national disgrace and a case of American wrath.

ANOTHER PLACE OF REFUGE

Arrival of Germans in America has been tremendous during the last fiscal year. This exhausted the quota limit and no more Germans will be permitted to land until July. Uncle Sam is getting ready to close the ports in the faces of aliens. South American countries have thrown wide open their ports. There is to be a new Germany in Brazil and a new Italy in Argentina. Now what of the future? These Pan-American nations are almost debt free, taxes are very low and opportunities are luring.

Japan is floating a sixty-million dollar bond issue in America. Good stuff. We shut the japs out and they are our best customers in the Orient.

Leading question concerning foreign policy: What do you think of Wilson?

As we understand the ultra-liberals, they feel that they have outgrown God.

The less logic you can use to defend your faith, the more temper you must use.

Many of the new novels concern illicit booze, and still others show the effects of it.

YOUR HEALTH By Dr. C. C. Robinson

CHRONIC NEPHRITIS Chronic nephritis is a disease of the kidneys when the process is in the stage of sclerosis, atrophy and contraction, whatever may have been the primal cause.

Two important reasons for the prevalence of chronic nephritis (Bright's disease) which takes a death toll of about 70,000 each year in the United States, are:

First, the disease is caused from some bacterial infection from an earlier attack of some disease.

Second, it is due in many cases to a high use of protein foods (meats) and animal products. Arterio sclerosis, or hardening of the smaller arteries, and general contraction of the kidneys, is another cause.

Where infection is of only the cause the primal agents were mainly toxic and scarlet fever. Even though the attack may be mild, the most careful and skillful treatment is necessary to ward off any future attacks on the kidneys from the poison of these destroyers.

Abuse of protein requirements in probably 75 percent of people in the temperate latitudes is a strong cause of indurated against chronic nephritis. Europeans and people of the United States and Canada consume far larger amounts of protein in the form of meat or animal food, than do the races of tropical countries. Tropical people are far more temperate in their eating, and rarely, if ever, suffer death from chronic nephritis.

The common habit of over-eating throws off too much work on the kidneys, and excessive work of this sort weakens any organs or glands to the danger point of disease and atrophied condition. The sensible diet is a strong weapon with which to fight off chronic nephritis. Vary your diet with vegetables and fruits and vegetable oils whenever possible. They act as a strong counter-balance to the protein foods.

Do not on any account, if you believe yourself afflicted with chronic nephritis, dose yourself with some medicine that claims to be a kidney cure. Such treatment is usually of no value and often causes real harm to the over-worked kidneys.

THIS LITTLE OLD WORLD

WASHINGTON BY HAROLD MATSON NIRA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Somebody back in 1911, or thereabouts, told the builders of this city that a straight line is one of duty, a curved line one of beauty; and they, being politicians, chose both.

Following one's way in New York, San Francisco or Chicago is child's play compared to the maze strategies met in Washington.

Between the curved lines of beauty, with the curvy, hilly and grand, and the straight lines of duty, with the squares, tapestries and trenches, it is a real adventure for a stranger to get out alone.

Radial streets, shooting in all directions from the capitol, give a map of the city the aspect of a boy's eyes.

In a hick town, heresy consists in doubting the infallibility of the local millionaire.

Prohibition wouldn't amount to much in Scotland, anyway. The bagpipe is too exquisitely adapted to the business of bootlegging.

Advice to that commission: Save the marks and the francs will take care of themselves.

We are afraid Dawes isn't taking this job seriously enough. He hasn't caused yet.

The theory seems to be that a little cruise on the Mayflower will cure political heresy.

Every car seems to reach the Union Station some place along its route. No matter where you are bound you are reasonably sure to suffer a minute or two delay while your car waits for another passenger at the station.

That's one consolation for the stranger. When he is leaving town, he can't help but find the station.

Your Money AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

"Oh, my son told me," continued Goodkind. "And I hear in the neighborhood—that you're worse women than that running in here. Women of the streets!"

"Not many," said Daniel calmly. "They're welcome but they don't come."

"Well, that's your business. And if your neighbors get sick of having a resort of this kind in their midst, and drive you out, that's your business, too. But my son's wife—"

"Is her business," Daniel interrupted.

"And his," came back Goodkind. "Only Jerry's in no condition to settle the matter. He's broken down from worry and overwork and you're partly responsible. That puts it up to me. This is a final warning. If you see Clara again I'll act. That's all. Good night." He picked up his hat.

"Oh, Mr. Goodkind," Daniel broke in from a reverie. "How about the money?"

"You've had what's coming to you." "But that's nothing. I pay half that for these houses and I've gone in debt fitting them up."

"With baths and tennis courts!" "People must have baths."

"These dirty immigrants," Goodkind stormed.

"The dirtier they are, the more they need them," Goodkind smiled. "I want to show them how to live—and show other people that you don't have to have a pig-pen to make a profit."

"Are you making a profit?" asked Goodkind scornfully.

"Enough," answered Goodkind enthusiastically. "And, to go on, I've got to have $22,000."

"Oh, is that all?" scoffed the visitor. "You want $22,000 to go on making a fool of yourself. Well, you won't get it."

"Not even as an advance?" pleaded Daniel.

"Not a penny."

"Don't drive me to—" Goodkind paused.

"Ask for an accounting," said Daniel, rather at a loss.

Goodkind stared at him in amazement.

"To ask for—what?" he thundered. "Now, listen to me. I've stood all I'm going to stand. You're an unskilled. You've become dangerous to yourself—and me—and the neighborhood. You're going to stop it, and you're going to stop it now."

"That's your mistake," said Daniel, will triumph.

"Is it? A year ago you gave me 21 hours to sign a paper, and I did it, and it cost me $2,000,000. Tonight I give you 20 minutes to shut up this place and quit seeing my daughter, and if you don't do it—"

"As I won't," said the unperturbed figure.

"I'll be here inside half an hour with a doctor."

"And then?" Goodkind didn't understand.

"Then we'll file a petition to have you declared incompetent."

Goodkind banged his stick on the floor for emphasis and started for the door.

"You don't mean that," said Daniel, rather helplessly. "You don't mean that because I'm trying to help—"

"Help—whom?" returned Goodkind, wheedling. "Strikers and women and general riff-raff. And you don't even help them—because nobody can. And if you could, and did, how in the name of God would that help the community? If I find you're still ranting down here in half an hour, I'll say you're crazy and I'll prove it." He moved toward the door. "Think it over."

Goodkind reached for the knob on the door and swung open from the other side. Goodkind backed step to admit a tall, neatly dressed, bristly man.

"Excuse me," said the intruder, politely.

Goodkind glowered at the man, then his face half lighted with recognition.

"Haven't I seen you somewhere before?" he said reflectively.

The man turned to answer. "Yes, I think so," he said. "My name's Umanski."

"Umanski?" Goodkind repeated. Then he remembered. "You're not the Pole who came to my house last year with a delegation?"

"Yes," said Umanski, quietly.

"Well, I'll be—" Goodkind surveyed him in surprise.

"Mr. Goodkind, all me stay in New York," the Pole explained. "I teach me English and tin, me good job. I'm work eight hours on the docks and six on myself now."

Goodkind said nothing, but searched for the door. Goodkind, idly filling his pipe at the mantelpiece, broke in.

"Mr. Goodkind," he said. "Umanski has an invention. If you'll see it—"

"I'll see you in half an hour," came the answer and the door closed.

CHAPTER XVII Cinderella Umanski's eyes, minus the hatred they once held, but still steady and serious, had been turned intently on Goodkind as he talked.

"What's he doing down here?" asked Umanski with certain anxiety. "He says I'm crazy and he's going to shut up this place." Daniel smiled as he dropped into a chair with the relaxation of one tired. "Of course, he won't."

"Don't be too sure," said the Pole thoughtfully.

"Nonsense," returned Goodkind. "I made him angry. And somebody told him a lot of lies."

"Somebody told a good many people lies," said Umanski. "Yesterday I heard a man say you run this place—to—to get women."

"Who said that?" Daniel looked up seriously.

"A woman named Malduca."

"Oh, yes," Daniel relaxed again. "I took his daughter in here once for a week, until he got sober."

"There's a good many like that," pursued the other.

"Not so many."

"Enough to make trouble. Why not carry a pistol?"

"I'd generally men with pistols who get shot," said Goodkind with quiet reflection.

"One of them fellows got you—"

Goodkind put him off with a gesture as Mary Margaret came into the room.

"I suppose you ain't had any supper," she said with a motherly air. Grubby had followed her in with a tray and the girl, leaning on her crutches, transferred its cargo to the table in front of Daniel.

"Umanski drew out a pocketbook and came along."

"I thought you some money," he said. "My boys be give me another raise. He gonna make me boss after a while. So I like to begin to pay back what you lend me."

Goodkind waved him aside.

"Wait 'till you've sent for your family," he said, making no move to accept the proffered bills.

"In women send now," said Umanski, smiling. "My boy, I'm gonna send school-college, maybe. That pump I make got fine. I show my boys like you say, because he know about coal mines, and he say if she work she save whole lots of lives and money. She work all right." He dropped the bills on the table and brought forth an English grammar from under his coat. "How about I go upstairs and study?"

"Sure," said Goodkind. "Go right up to my room and I'll be along after the meeting." Umanski left. Mary Margaret Mary bending over him eagerly. "Your supper's ready," she said.

Goodkind had caught sight of her feet, strangely adorned.

"What's this we're wearing, golden slippers?" he queried, looking up at her.

"Uh-huh," she assented. "I took them out of the barrel of clothes that pretty lady sent." Goodkind pulled a chair up beside his.

"Supper with Cinderella," he said with a sweeping invitational gesture.

"Gee, I love that story," the girl said plaintively. "When you tell it to me, you make me believe I'm Cinderella on crutches, a beggar of life but quite content to ride upon wishes."

"If you believe it—you are," said Goodkind.

"I'll be at his penively."

"I guess believe ain't never going to make me dance," she said.

"You can't tell," he said. "—if you believe hard enough."

"That's what you said before, and I've tried, but somehow it don't work."

THE FOOL BY CHARLIE POLLOCK

Illustrated by W. S. M. TREVILL

BEGIN HERE TODAY Clara Jewett, in love with the Reverend Daniel Gilchrist, married Jerry Goodkind for his money. Daniel is dismissed from the fashionable Church of the Nativity in New York because of his radical sermons.

A delegation of strikers comes north to interview the president and directors. An agreement which Gilchrist drew out for the miners is shown to Goodkind and Daniel gives the magnates 24 hours in which to sign.

"Overcoat Hall," a refuge for the unemployed, is established by Gilchrist, and apartments with baths for the poor are maintained at a minimum rent. George Goodkind calls at the hall.

Now GO ON WITH THE STORY "That's what I wanted to ask you. I'm in need of money and my father—"

"Your father understood you well enough to leave you only an income. I foolishly turned over some principal to you and you threw away $30,000. You could have had a big salary. And you threw that away. You're an utter damned waste—if you're no worse."

"What do you mean—worse?" Daniel asked with a frown.

"You? Find out what I mean. You've had my son's wife down here, haven't you?"

"Once or twice."

"Or three times—or a dozen. He knows."

"I've asked her to come again. And he's asked her—but she comes when she likes. She's in love with you—God knows what women see in your kind of a man. There was Pearl Hennis—"

"Please!" Gilchrist lifted a hand in protest.

"Oh, my son told me," continued Goodkind. "And I hear in the neighborhood—that you're worse women than that running in here. Women of the streets!"

"Not many," said Daniel calmly. "They're welcome but they don't come."

Sports Clothes Are Best Medium For The New Plaids Now Shown

The cubist who delights in squares and right angles ought to find satisfaction in contemplating the new plaids. For squares and squares are among them and dressmakers and makers have started in using them for clothes to be worn this season.

One has the impulse to wear plaid. It is best to obey that impulse now while the fad is young. Possibly plaids will be a little too usual.

Millions are apparently putting across the plaid idea by means of tartans more or less faithfully. From France have come plaids draped with Scotch plaid which continue through a slit to the hips to go about the neck. This is one of the tricks that self-styled designers are using to appear very strongly to American women. It may be that this Scotch plaid idea will have influence with the color fashions for Scotch plaid colors have been spoken of with a profusion. They are familiar to most of us in the form of dark green, blue, yellow, a dark blue, red, white, and a strong but not violent red. There is much combining of these colors with black.

The quality of these colors in the Scotch materials is somewhat different from the fact that the fabric is not the same tones can be reproduced in silks, much in lines or cottons. Still there are no plaids to be reckoned with in the same way as the Scotch materials. In one turning of the hand, the pattern was changed out on the skirt and bodice by means of glass beads, exactly the same will over which they were sewed.

The sport frock is really the medium for the plaid. Despite the fact that the Scotchman wears his plaid in thick plaids, we do best when we use plaid along straight lines, as in the case of the dress, and as in the case of the skirt, and as in the case of the blouse. Hence it is best adapted to the simplest of all our clothes—our sport clothes. A charming frock of this nature shown, this simple use of plaid makes a combined "with" solid color for planning at the hem and sleeves, and for the collar and tie.

MRS. W. C. WELSH ENTERTAINS CLUB

Mrs. Charles Welsh of Youngstown, formerly Miss Mary McBride of this city, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McBride, entertained the Lady Slipper club, of which she was formerly a member, at a bridge last evening at the McBride home, 1521 Procter street.

The Valentine theme received full recognition in the adornment of the home, with the red and white motif cleverly featured. Gorgeous roses, clustered in baskets about the dining room and the dining room gave real beauty and character of red and white extended from the chandeliers and about the windows and doors gave added charm.

Three tables of players enjoyed the games, with the bridge tables outfit in covers and accessories featuring the Valentine motif. For success in the games Miss Frankie Mae Taylor received the club prize and Miss Eula South was awarded the guest favor. Conversation fell to Miss Alene Johnston. A lovely salad course reflecting the Valentine theme, was served on trays after the games, the trays being centered with a lovely Valentine and the mint baskets featuring the red theme. Valentines were presented as favors to the guests.

The personnel included Miss Eula South, Miss Beatrice Halloran, Miss Irene Williams, Miss Vera Sanford, Miss Rosa Lester, Miss Ruth Corbett, Miss Follina Vargheise, Miss Alene Johnston, Miss Anna Williams, Miss Frankie Mae Taylor, Miss Eula South, and Mrs. Charles Welsh.

Symphony Club Hears Unusual Program Here

Any Walford Fintin's "Pavane of Flowers," formed an unusually delightful program at yesterday's session of the Symphony club at the First Baptist church. Mrs. Van D. Mercer sponsored the program, which was opened with roll call, responded to with current events.

The opening musical number was rendered by a chorus, comprised of Mrs. R. L. Drake, Miss Mary Fitzgerald, Mrs. M. J. Panton, Mrs. E. R. Hoffman, Mrs. Clifford G. Hall, Miss Maudie Smith, Miss Helen Crum, Miss Marie McMaster and Mrs. Fred P. Dodge, who sang "Ave Maria." Mrs. L. G. Hoffman rendered a vocal number, "Midnight Prayer," following which Mrs. R. L. Drake sang "The Star Flower Tree." A duet, "Pale Priest Beside the Shrine" was sung by Mrs. Clifford G. Hall and Miss Maudie Smith.

Another duet was given by Mrs. R. L. Drake and Mrs. Fred P. Dodge, who sang "To Love, To Love." Miss Maudie Smith gave a selection, "God Keep My Thoughts" and Mrs. M. J. Panton contributed a solo "In My Languished Tray" to the program. The concluding number was the chorale, "Shine Down Paganini," which was sung by Mrs. R. L. Drake, Miss Mary Fitzgerald, Mrs. M. J. Panton, Mrs. E. R. Hoffman, Mrs. Clifford G. Hall, Miss Maudie Smith, Miss Helen Crum, Miss Marie McMaster and Mrs. Fred P. Dodge, Mrs. Clifford G. Hall and Miss Maudie Smith.

Here's a Prize Beauty From Top to Toe

Kay Laurell's

Eleanor Boardman's

Martha Gonzales

Gilda Gray's

If this young woman were to enter a beauty contest, she'd stand an exceptional chance of winning just prizes—one for her face, another for her arms, a third for her form and the last for her legs. The difficulty is she isn't a young woman—she's a composite of four who have earned national fame for their beauty. The head is that of Kay Laurell, one of the most beautiful actresses on the stage. Eleanor Boardman owns the arms, considered the most shapely in screenland. The body is that of Martha Gonzales, whom artists have picked as the most Venus-like woman in America. And the legs are claimed by Gilda Gray of the Ziegfeld Follies, where the most shapely legs gather.

were given. Mrs. S. O. Latimer is chairman of the Alpha Division and Mrs. W. F. Silvester is chairman of the Ladies Aid, which was formerly the Beta Division.

Announcement was made that the Ladies Aid will hold a candy sale downtown this week, and the Alpha Division will hold a rummage sale on Houston avenue today, both sales being held to raise funds for the church fund.

MRS. KEITH TO BE HOSTESS TO CLUB
Mrs. O. W. Keith will be hostess to the Young Women's Culture Club tomorrow afternoon at her home, 1845 Fifth street, at 3 o'clock.
Mrs. H. H. Brown will have charge of the program, which will be as follows:
Roll call; Quotations from Emerson's Essays.
The Character of Carlyle as seen in his Letters to Emerson—Mrs. L. E. Fisher.
The Character of Emerson as seen in his Letters to Carlyle—Mrs. P. T. Williams.
Carlyle, the Portrait Painter—Mrs. Walter Lee Jones.
An Introduction to Jane Welsh Carlyle from the Letters of Carlyle and Emerson—Mrs. A. A. Gunter.

S. B. A. WILL MEET WITH MRS. MARTIN
The Security Benefit Association will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. L. Martin, 249 Fifth street. Mrs. Bates, district deputy, will be present at this session.

Women Attend Bible School at Beaumont Now

Among the Port Arthur women attending the International School of Bible and Missions being conducted at the Y. W. C. A. in Beaumont under the auspices of the Beaumont Federation of Missionary Societies yesterday were Mrs. H. F. Banker, Mrs. W. A. Martin, Mrs. B. H. Carroll, Mrs. S. D. Wall, Mrs. C. T. Baker, Mrs. H. G. Bell, Mrs. E. Tyeatt, Mrs. J. D. Tennant, Mrs. A. L. Schneider, Mrs. T. E. Cannedy, Mrs. P. T. Donahoe, Mrs. C. E. Perry, Mrs. Denver Boock, Mrs. J. L. Lippincott, Mrs. J. A. House and Mrs. L. P. Martin, all members of the Port Arthur Federated Missionary Society.

The mission study, "Creative Forces in Japan" is being taught by Miss Bertha Conde, writer, Bible student, and lecturer of note. The classes begin at 10 o'clock each morning and continue until 12 o'clock, when there is a social hour and a musical program. Miss Conde delivers an address each morning, and at 1:30 o'clock each afternoon conducts the mission study. The school will continue until Friday evening when a present, "The Feast of Shrove Roshomon" will be presented at 8 o'clock at the First Methodist church by the Young Women's Christian Association.

Friday morning at 11:10 o'clock, following Miss Conde's address, Mrs. C. L. Earhart and Mrs. W. A. Martin, members of the local Federated Missionary Society, will tell of the mission work in Port Arthur. Mrs. Earhart will speak on the French work in Port Arthur and Mrs. W. A. Martin will tell of the work being done among the Mexicans.

Officials of the Port Arthur Federation declared this morning the Federation of Port Arthur should have a large representation on Friday morning.

KNITTING NEEDLE
When celluloid knitting needles become bent you can straighten them by holding them over the steam from a teakettle and then plunging into cold water to harden. Never, of course, hold celluloid near an open flame.

FRESH BAKED CAKE
A cake will not stick to the pan if, when you remove it from the oven, you chill it on the bottom by placing the pan for a few moments on a cloth saturated with cold water.

TO DRY CLOTHES
If you find clothes difficult to dry inside the house on a rainy day you can accelerate the process by turning on the electric fan.

LETTER FROM SALLY ATHON TO LESLIE PRESCOTT
It was sweet of you, Leslie dear, to recommend me to your husband, especially as you must know why I am leaving your father, who is one of the best understanding men I have known.

I am quite sure I would have liked to stay with him always. I am doing better here than I have done in all my life, but I want to get away from Sam.

Don't be shocked, dear. I'm only saying what probably hundreds and even thousands of married women think every day of their lives. Neither Sam nor I have been very happy since our marriage, which was a great mistake.

Both of us saw this before we had been married a month, and I expect Sam has been just as anxious to get away from me as I have been to get away from him.

Of course, I could not leave him alone during his blindness, but now that he has got back his sight, I feel perfectly justified in getting out of this mess as soon as possible.

Sam and I do not think alike on any subject in the world. He is a very good business man along his own lines. He has no vision. He will never be anything but a plain employee, dishing along on a good salary. He is always afraid to take the initiative.

I, as you know, am an entirely different. Some day I want to be perfectly independent. I want to work for myself, and I am sure that with your husband to teach me I will be able to attain my ambitions not very far in the future.

Now, my dear girl, I have come to the real gist of my letter—the thing for which I have written this preamble—that is, I want to place myself in just the position with you that I can keep up as long as I stay in your husband's employ.

I know we have been friends, dear, all our lives, and your friendship has been one of the loveliest things that has come into my somewhat gray existence. Because that is so, and because I want to keep the memory of it, I want you, Leslie, to forget that we have been anything more than chance acquaintances, and accept me as your husband's secretary.

One cannot mix society and business, especially, an employee cannot keep up in the society of her employer. It would be very foolish of me to try to do so and would only end in disaster.

Occasionally, perhaps, if you ask me, dear, I may come to your house and dine with you if you are alone, but I do not want your husband ever to meet me socially. Please do not his home, although your mother is kind enough to do so.

Don't think I am ungrateful. I am only trying to lay it away carefully in my memory, until some time when we can be friends again.
Sincerely yours, SALLY ATHON

Rub It On For Deep Chest Colds

ABSORBED like a liniment and at the same time INHALED as a vapor, Vicks gets immediately into congested, inflamed air passages

NEVER NEGLECT A CHEST COLD.
If allowed to "hang on" it means lung tissue weakened, air passages predisposed to infection. There is then danger of pneumonia and pneumonia is now more deadly than tuberculosis.

When a cold goes down deep, with soreness, tight breathing and a heavy, hollow cough, apply hot wet towels over throat and chest to open the pores of the skin.

Massage briskly with Vicks for five minutes, then spread on thickly and cover with two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. Leave the bedclothing loose about the neck so that the vapors arising may be freely inhaled. These vapors, inhaled with each breath, carry the medication directly to the affected parts.

At the same time, the penetrative and stimulative effect of Vicks through the skin increases the circulation of the blood throughout the chest region, and thus helps to relieve the tightness and congestion.

How Vicks Should Be Used

For Spasmodic Croup, Children's Colds—Rub Vicks over the throat and chest until the difficult breathing is relieved, then spread on thickly and cover with a hot flannel cloth. One application at bedtime usually prevents a night attack of croup.

For Head Colds, Asthma, Catarrh, Hay Fever—Vicks should be melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled, or a little can be applied up the nostrils and sniffed well back up the head.

For Deep Chest Colds, Sore Throat, Tonsillitis, Bronchitis, Coughs—Rub Vicks briskly over the throat and chest. In severe cases first rub the skin to open the pores (see directions). Then spread on thickly and cover with one or two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. Leave the bedclothes loose about the neck so that the vapors may be freely inhaled. If the cough is annoying, a small piece the size of a pea can be swallowed every two or three hours.

CYCLONE KILLS 3 IN ALABAMA

Five Others Suffer Serious Injuries

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 5.—A cyclone struck north into the home of Mr. Wallace Carpenter, 12 miles from here last night, killing three members of his family and injuring four others.

The family, with the exception of the pastor, were at the dinner table at 8:15 p. m. when the storm struck. The house was dashed to pieces.

The dead are Mrs. Cora Carpenter, 36, and two sons, Clarence, 17, and Earle, 15.

The injured are: Mildred, 11; Herman, 12; Matthew, 7, and Woodrow Carpenter, 2.

When ambulances from Birmingham went to the home, they found the ruins surrounded by fallen trees. The dead were badly mangled. The injured were found partially buried beneath the debris.

MAH JONGS ENTICED AH TAK TOO MUCH

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Ah Tak, Chinese stevedore at the liner Empress of China, paid a fine of $100 to custom authorities Wednesday for an alleged attempt to smuggle 48 mah jong sets into the United States.

Ah Tak explained that the Chinese stevedores were superstitious. When one lost heavily at the game, he threw the offending set into the sea. Therefore, he added, it was necessary to carry from 30 to 100 sets aboard.

COLLEGE PRESERVES DIME NOVEL CLASSICS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—The dime thriller, once mathematics by material editor, is now to be accorded a place of honor on the shelves of Stanford university, California.

They will hold place—2,400 of them—among rare and valuable curiosities of ancient literature.

Thus, through the generosity of the donor, an eastern man, will be preserved to posterity the epic of hair-raising incidents which thrilled the latter nineteenth century youth as they read surreptitiously in hay loft or behind the fence.

Booze Ring is All-Powerful in Great Britain Yet Nation Faces Rum-Running Problem

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 5.—A dark night fog along the coast. A trawler came to a deserted cove with its load of innocent fish—and not a decent booze.

No, this is not about the United States rum run where ships are smuggling British booze to American bootleggers. This particular story deals with British booze which smuggle French booze into war-torn England.

For just as anti-booze rules the coast in the United States, so booze is all powerful in Great Britain.

It is powerful in parliament, powerful in the party machines, powerful in society and powerful in the press. It even has its friends in the churches. It has no strenuous opposition in the colleges and universities. It permeates all branches of British life. That is why the masters of beer, whisky and gin in Britain don't worry much.

Peace Now the "Beerage"

The last parliament held in the house of lords 12 members who were directors in ten big whisky or brewery concerns. A number of them had made their entire fortune out of booze. In the house of commons there were 16 brewers and distillers, and 27 companies whose capital stock was a quarter of a billion dollars.

None of the big newspapers of Great Britain is owned by the beer and whisky lords, but the press, as a whole, is favorable to their business for two reasons; the owners think the public sentiment favors the wets and the owners make huge sums out of booze advertisements. Makers of well-known brands of whisky, beer and gin also columns of space in British newspapers to boost their wares.

Not only that, but the big department stores of Great Britain have liquor departments on a scale of lavishness never known even in New York and Chicago. It is no unusual thing to see these department stores taking a quarter of a page in a huge prize to advertise their bargain in liquor. It is no unusual thing to see some old waxing brand in its phrase of 1919 car-old brandy—"the very soul of the grape"—and only $50 a bottle!

With Great Britain the most highly taxed country in the world, the booze interests have another potential argument. They point out that owing to high taxes on their business, alcohol has costed an increased revenue of about three quarters of a billion dollars per annum which could not be raised so easily and so expeditiously any place else.

And so just as bootlegging is a recognized business along the coast, so smuggling is a recognized business along the English channel. So much so that parliament may be asked to provide money for a coast guard.

In the United States prohibition is the cause of bootlegging. In England the main cause of smuggling is taxes.

Before the war the British revenue tax on French brandy and European wines was merely nominal.

ENGLISH PAPERS—CARRY LARGE BOOZE ADVERTISEMENTS

DEPARTMENT STORES HAVE LIQUOR SALES REGULARLY

DIRECTORS IN BIG WHISKY AND BREWERY CONCERNS ARE MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF LORDS AND COMMONS

BRITISH FISHERMEN SMOOGE FOREIGN MADE LIQUOR

It didn't pay to smuggle.

After-war conditions changed this. The endeavor to make its budget balance, the government has contented with a very heavy duty.

A bottle of whisky which sells retail at twelve shillings and six shillings and 6 pence half penny. In other words, two-thirds of what the consumer pays for the booze is government tax. Half of what the consumer pays for French brandy is accounted for by government tax. Whiskies are taxed anywhere from two shillings up to 6 and 8 shillings per gallon.

Fishermen Get Rich Running Rum

With a government tax of over $2 per bottle, the smuggler can easily afford to take the risk and split what is saved on the tax. In other words, he can sell his booze to the dealer for $1 less than it would have cost him to buy from regular wholesalers.

Often the smuggler can get the full price that is paid for booze on which the tax is paid for this reason: brandy that goes through the government hands is watered down to a certain proof. Brandy that comes by way of the smuggler is not watered down. It is full strength and therefore worth far more to the drinker.

The business of booze smuggling in England is almost entirely in the hands of the fishermen of the south coast. The fishermen of the south coast are English coast.

Every morning these men put forth in their steam trawlers or gasoline motor boats and head across the English channel to the fishing sections near the French coast. Here they also find French and Belgian fishermen, who sell brandy, rum, wine and liquors by case loads.

In the evening the British return with two loads, one for night and one for day. They are not fishing and one for daylight. They have their pots along the coast who guide them to secluded coves by means of signal lamps. Here the booze is quietly landed. The fishing boats then innocently make for the nearest harbor which has a fish market, anchor for the night, and dispose of their fish in the morning.

The owner of a fishing boat can make more out of his contraband booze than out of his fish.

WINNER OF BOK PRIZE IS NAMED

Charles H. Levermore Given $50,000 Check

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—Dr. Charles Herbert Levermore, of New York City, former president of Adelphi college, Brooklyn and secretary of the New York peace society was announced Monday as author of the Bok peace prize plan.

John W. Davis, former American ambassador to the court of St. James, handed Levermore a check for $50,000. The second half of the $100,000 offered by Edward W. Bok, publisher, for a practical peace plan, will be given Levermore if the United States or an overwhelming referendum of the people approve it.

Tanlac Saved Life Says Texas Citizen

"I firmly believe that Tanlac saved my life," is the remarkable statement of A. W. McClellan, esteemed city employee, of 27 North 11th St., Paris, Texas.

"Eight years ago, I was taken with congestive chills and after the fever left me I was too weak to move and without the slightest appetite. I went ten days at a time without eating and just dwindled away until I only weighed one hundred pounds. They said I would never get well and I had given up all hope.

"Well, sir, Tanlac gave me an appetite and soon had my strength coming back steadily, and after my fourth bottle I was able to get up. When I finished my ninth and last bottle, my weight had actually gone up twenty-eight pounds. I felt strong and well, and could do a big day's work. As long as I live, I will feel grateful to Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

"Dead" Sport Back to "Life" With Sensational Bout On Tap

Man Who Initiated Revival Returns to Meet Minot's Giant

Promoter Bill Fort Forecasts Whirlwind Encounter When Mamos and Rogers Advance From Corners Tomorrow Night in Elks

BY BILL ARCHER

ONE year ago wrestling was a dead sport in Port Arthur. One year ago fans gave it the official "thumbs-down" verdict. And since boxing was frowned upon by the powers that be in the realms of legislative matter, Bill Fort, well-known Jefferson county promoter, looked the situation over and decided to revive the game and keep it clean for Port Arthur.

It's back. Back on its feet after an age of death. Wrestling has returned to claim the major attention of Port City fandom. It never has done before, and Fort, who sank his old money in the forecasted "dry well," is finding a chance to smile, now, in his own turn.

It started its revival here when Pinky Gardner of Schenectady, N.Y., met and wrestled to a draw one Josephus Shinkus, Joe. Shinkus was such a willing boy, but Pinky made up for the shortcomings of his adversary, and the meekly handfull of fans that gathered in Elks theater in January, 1923, witnessed a tough struggle for two hours and 20 minutes without a victor being declared for a single fall.

When the season blew over with the coming of warmer weather, and Fort let it rock. Let it rock along until October of the same year.

Then, with the day just propitious, and the men clamoring for a kind of diversion from the hum-drum things sports had been offering the Port City, Fort presented Harry Mamos, a whirlwind sensation he was advertised, and a whirlwind sensation he proved to be, matched with Mike Poulis from Alexandria.

Days and days have passed since Bill took the helm of affairs in hand again—at Plaza Nat—and some of the best matches the town has ever been treated to were booked.

Now comes Fort again, with that same Harry Mamos booked against one of the best 155-pounders that has stepped on the mats in Port Arthur—none other than Stanley Rogers, the Minot, North Dakota, giant who had his introduction to Port Arthur fans when he faced George Vassal Actor.

Mamos, in the pink of trim, promises to uphold the good record Fort has made; Mamos promises that it shall be no fault of his if the contest tomorrow evening in Elks theater falls below par.

WRESTLERS ARE WELL MATCHED

There is no need of exacting that promise from either wrestler. Mamos and Rogers are well matched, and as well versed in the art of twisting muscles and bones out of place as any two opponents of the game could hope to be. Tomorrow evening they just simply get another opportunity to prolong or to finish the argument between them that had its beginning back in the North Dakota town from which Rogers hails, and where the two light-heavyweight aces went 2-1-2 hours without a fall.

Fans here have that Mamos can't beat Rogers; others say Rogers can't beat Mamos. It's all a matter of guess work just now, but tomorrow evening, some of the guessers will be hitting the proverbial nail on the head, for each man is determined that there shall be a victor.

ONE OF FORT'S BEST BETS

Fort has branded this match one of his best bets; he has termed it another of his athletic ventures, and has lined up some snappy preliminary battles to spice the program and start the curtain up.

The main show will get under way at 8 o'clock. Doors will probably swing open at seven.

Fort Extends Club's Privileges to Saints During Training Here

First plans of real baseball in Port Arthur will be seen this year around the 3rd of March, according to Joe Mathes, manager of the St. Joe Saints, when the pitchers and catchers who are to herald the good tidings of the Saints through the season of 24 pilot their places into town and take up their abode at the camp trail in the hills.

Yea—the batteries of the Saints will not get here until they get in town March 3. Some of them, of course, will probably get here before that, and along about the 10th, the rest of the club will be in town.

Bill Fort, manager of the Port Arthur Athletic and Social Club at 1212 Broadway, has invited the entire club to make their training headquarters at the club rooms, and has offered the use of the institution to the organization for workouts during inclement weather when they are denied lumbering up on the diamond. The invitation has been accepted.

THE NUT CRACKER

Another twelve-year-old golf prodigy has been admitted to this country in spite of all that was done to tighten up immigration laws.

The remarkable thing about Zbyzko's decision to stage another sensational display to show that you can even use a golf club if you drink it long enough.

The experts should not criticize Jack Renault for battling snobs in the sticks. Maybe he's just trying to keep his amateur record sacred.

TO PLAY LOCAL BALL NINES PLAN TO RACE HERE SUNDAY

MATHES BRINGS GROUND WORKER

Pitchers, Catchers Due Here on March 3rd

By TAB

"Any local team that wants to play an exhibition game during our stay in Port Arthur will be given the opportunity to have their wishes granted."

Thus spoke Joe Mathes, erstwhile pilot of the St. Joe baseball squad, which on March 3 will begin active training here for the fast-coming season of baseball. Mathes dropped back into the Port City yesterday, carrying his own ground-keeper out to Comopolis park, introduced his companion to some park and started the cogs rolling that will bring to Port Arthur the first spring training ball nine that ever did spring training within the city's limits.

Mathes likes the looks of Port Arthur. He didn't only say that, but he indicated that this city is the ideal location for annual ventures such as St. Joe will inaugurate this spring.

"Of course," Joe qualified, "there isn't a shower at the park now, but you can't hope to find everything just so, you know. And perhaps, when the fans have got it going over this year, there may be hot and cold showers in the club room, at the park by the spring of 1925, and that ought to attract bigger nines here."

Mathes' blanket challenge to any club in the city gives the Texas Company, the Gulfies and the Elks a wide margin to operate upon. Any member of that trio is a good bet for a fast exhibition clash, and there would be none of fans turning out to witness the contests. . . It is very likely that the players will be bowling before long for sundry organizations just like Port Arthur boasted last season, and if so, St. Joe will have lots of entertainment during her stay here.

There are several open dates on the St. Joe program this fall. Mathes' winter "cut out" in his conversation yesterday, and teams wanting a smack at any of these dates can get satisfaction, he promised, by consulting with Warren C. Giles, secretary of the St. Joe Saints, when that gent arrives in the city.

At present, the training schedule of the St. Joe nine calls for the following:

March 15 and 16: Beaumont vs. St. Joe here.

March 22 and 23: St. Joe at Houston.

March 29 and 30: St. Joe at Beaumont.

April 5 and 6: St. Joe at Galveston.

April 10 and 11: St. Joe at Dallas.

April 12 and 13: St. Joe at Wichita Falls en route home.

Maranville Still on Market

Despite the fact that a good shortstop very often makes a ball team what it needs, the National league managers to do any crowding over Rabbit Maranville of the Pirates. Announced as on the market by the Pittsburgh club, he still remains the possession of the Pirates. Perhaps no club has offered Owner Barney Dreyfus as much as he believes he should get in return.

Smith and Atkins, two stellar guards that usually go the entire route of a game, Country Kelly, Cotton Hilday, Masters and other sensational basketball players will be seen in action again when St. Edwards' squad takes the floor Friday evening.

On Saturday night, St. Edwards will be entertained again with their second clash against the Gulfie.

12 Youngsters Sired By Man O' War Make Debut On Turf This Season

BY BILLY EVANS

MAN O' WAR, the six-year-old stallion, led the field. Then along came Morich, Great as a two-year-old, he was a disappointment the following year. Last year Saracen showed the way of the aspiring two-year-olds. Turf experts are wondering if Saracen will fail as a three-year-old as did Morich.

What horse will be the champion two-year-old of 1924? Will the progeny of the great Man o' War live up to the deeds of their astirous "dad?"

Man o' War, generally accepted as the greatest horse this country has ever produced, was retired two years ago. The coming season will see 12 youngsters sired by the great Man o' War make their turf debut.

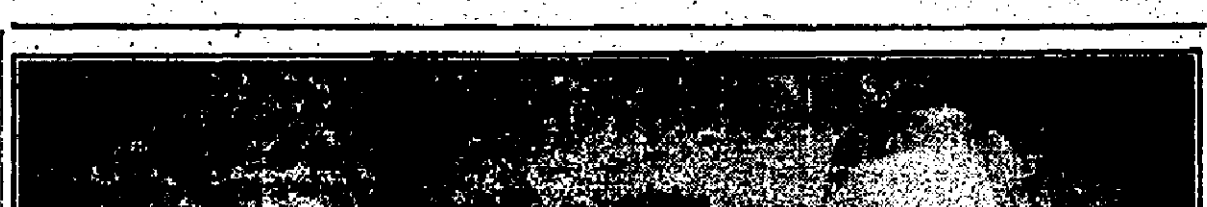

Will they prove to be the sensation of the racing world as did their "dad?" Will they be listed in the category of "wonder horses" or will they prove to be just so-so?

Turf experts are inclined to think that at least one of the 12 kids will come through and make the old man proud of him.

Man o' War is a brilliant chestnut with a small white star in his forehead. He stands 16.3 hands high, of wonderful conformation, an equine beauty.

In a measure the surprising feature of Man o' War's get is how admirably he has succeeded in imparting his looks and conformation. There is a decided similarity in the heads of such horse and the small white star marks them all.

AWARD MARLEY GOLD TROPHY

Double bills are getting to be the popular pastime in Port Arthur basketball circles.

Friday evening in Franklin Gym, another sensational double bill will be offered the fans of the city when the Yellow Jackets of the local high school clash against the Purple of Beaumont High in the preliminary number of the Good Gulf-St. Edwards College opening round.

The Yellow Jackets are in fighting trim, their mentor, Lee O. Smith, announced this morning, and will be rearing to go when the curtain rings up for their part of the affray Friday night.

Agree On Pot Split

Officials of the Gulf club and the high school contingent got together yesterday and agreed on the financial split that was about the only blockade to the double bill. The amount contained in the transaction has not been announced, and probably won't be, but fans are only interested in the fact that one of the snappiest teams in the city is going to play the "Notre Dame of the South" and that preliminary to that episode in Port Arthur sporting history the Yellow Jackets will face an ancient traditional rival—all for the price of one admission ticket which seems to be the popular thing of late.

Couch-Todda Forbes is rounding his protegee into the best condition they will probably appear in this season. The St. Edwards crew is a tough number, perhaps the toughest the Gulf will bring to Port Arthur this season, and Todda wants to win.

An interesting thing about the clash is the fact that Nemo Herrera, coach of the Beaumont High squad, will participate in the issue against St. Edwards as a member of the Gulf club, so Nemo's visit to Port Arthur this week-end will be filled with a double interest. Basketball fans who recall Herrera's no doubt remember him as one of the most aggressive players the Gulf boasted last season.

There is a difference

There seems to be a decided difference in handling college players and professional athletes. Hugo Bezdek, a great success in college circles as basketball and football coach, found managing a big league team a much harder job.

Looking over the records of these seven pitchers it is interesting to note that they all appeared in almost the same number of games. For instance, Morrison, Donohue and Rixey totled in 42; Luque in 41; Grimes, 39, and Alexander and Haines in 37.

Will Fort Seeking Drivers For Dirt Track

With a program he has been working up for several weeks, arranged and with fair weather prevailing, Will Fort, local sports promoter, will swing open the gates of Edsall Texas Speedway Sunday afternoon to give local track followers another glimpse of dirt courses and dust, while the good demons of the south look down at a contest of nerve and motor ability.

"Daredevils of the south" is the way Fort referred this morning to the gang he has lined up for the opening entertainment of the season at the Speedway.

Paul Clancy, who happened to an accident when he overturned on the Gulf Coast Speedway at Houston Sunday, Jack Saunders, Johnny Main and other noted dirt track artists will take part in the events.

Fort is planning a special side-bet race between a local car and a Beaumont car, the drivers to race for a $200 purse.

Gleason, However, Appointed Mr. Frank Chance

By NEA Service

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—While the appointment of Frank Chance as manager of the White Sox was well received, there is no denying the fact that three veteran stars of the club possess managerial ability. Eddie Collins, Ray Schalk and Harry Hooper. That is why the selection of Chance was a surprise in some quarters.

Kid Gleason frankly admits that Eddie Collins carried many of the managerial burdens for him when he was leading the Sox. Collins as captain directed the play of the club in the field. Gleason confining his activities to handling the pitching situation.

Harry Hooper admits that one of the big disappointments of his career was his failure to be selected as the successor of Bill Carrigan, when he quit the managerial post at Boston.

Collins, Schalk and Hooper are regarded as three of the brainiest players in the American League and all have managerial possibilities if they ever care to take a whirl at the job.

Norway Takes Most of Points in Ski Jumping Tourney

By United Press

CHAMONIX, France, Feb. 5.—Norway took most of the points in the Olympic ski-jumping competition Monday, when Thams of Norway was declared the winner and Bonna and Haug of the same team took second and third positions. Anders Haugen, the American star, was fourth in the final standing.

Bazner Outwitted of the United States team, joined the growing hospital list, being painfully hurt when he tumbled on his first jump. His condition is believed to be serious.

Helps the Golfers

It is no easy matter to play a perfect golf shot against the wind. Nor is it a simple matter to play one perfectly with the wind.

Major H. D. Gillies, British star, has introduced a novel idea in tee work which he claims has simplified the problem. Gillies uses an adjustable tee, the like of which has never been seen on any golf course.

It is a shaft affair. When the wind is with him Gillies adjusts the tee to a height of eight inches; when it is against him he lowers it to four.

The average golfer uses a sand tee. Gillies seldom exceeds an inch in height.

Gillies has adjusted his swing to be extraordinary heights and gets remarkable results.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—Bossy Wolgast, Philadelphia bantamweight, won a 10-round decision from Ed Larkie, Kensington.

GETS DECISION

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Eddie Martin, Brooklyn bantam, won a six-round decision from Midget Smith, New York.

MACK BANKS ON ROMMEL

Connie Mack is banking on Eddie Rommel to have a big year. Rommel, the pitching sensation of 1922, didn't do so well last year. Connie figures Ed has profited by experience, and will be a big help to him this year.

VILLA TO PUT BELT AT STAKE

Saving Frankie Genaro For Summer Season

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Pancho Villa, five-weight champion of the world, will expose his title to the mitts which lurk in the knuckles of George Marks, Friday night, the second world champion to agree to a championship fight since the indoor season began. The other was Harry Greb who met and defeated Johnny Wilson.

Villa would not fight Frankie Genaro indoors, however, underlining to save Genaro for the summer season when the gate receipts will be much larger. For that reason, Genaro has held himself in readiness to break a hand on a moment's notice, being anxious to avoid a fight with Villa until spring, for the same reason.

Marks was selected as a tipover for Villa and from his previous work not seem to be very formidable as an opponent for the champion.

Joe Lynch, Johnny Dundee, Benj. Leonard, Mickey Walker, Mike McTigue and Dempsey all refuse to risk their titles indoors.

ANOTHER ROSE BLOOMS

Another championship flower is growing in the fistic gardens in San Luis valley, birthplace of Jack Dempsey, king of the heavens.

The flower happens to be a featherweight and is known to be the name of Edie Mack. He is a young fellow still going to high school, and his real name, Pete Quintana, indicates he is either Spanish or Mexican.

TOLEDO, Feb. 5.—Jack Malone, 12-pound middleweight, won a popular 12-round decision from Young Fisher, Syracuse.

Young Giant Floor Star

DANNY METCALF

The outstanding star of the University of New Hampshire basketball team, strong contender for the New England championship, is Captain Danny Metcalf, a giant in height, and one of the best goal makers in the collegiate sport.

MUST STRENGTHEN OUTFIELD

Manager Frank Chance of the Chicago White Sox says his biggest problem is to whip his outfield into shape. The veteran Harry Hooper is the only player who can be figured on as an outfield certainty.

WOULD DO A COMEBACK

Ed Walsh, former star of the Chicago White Sox, says he would essay a big league comeback if the spitball wasn't barred. Walsh says a few years' rest has made his old "slooper" feel as good as ever. Ed always was an optimist.

ENGLAND CHALLENGES U. S. FOR DAVIS CUP

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Great Britain again challenged the United States for the Davis cup, symbol of the team championship of the world in tennis, in a cablegram forwarded to the United States Lawn Tennis Association Monday. As before, Great Britain elects to compete in the European zone of preliminary play.

MANUSCH HUGS THE PLATE

Outfielder Manusch of the Tigers, whom Ty Cobb predicts will be a star in a couple of years, doesn't pull an inch at the plate. For that reason he is often hit by pitched balls that other batters would avoid. The veteran Kid Elberfeld had such a stance and, you know, "Kid" is a great many cases the umpire wouldn't permit him to go down, claiming he failed to try to avoid the pitch.

HURT GAME

An irresponsible promoter gave professional boxing in Cleveland a black eye some months ago when he was unable to meet guarantees made to George Glavin and Johnny Dundee. Now the game in St. Louis has received a body blow because Kid Wagner and Paul Moran, failing to get their money, refused to fight.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Is the Moon Man your big brother?

"You'll guess this riddle first crack out of the box," said the Little Lady. "But we have had so many hard ones I thought this would be nice for a change. This isn't a summer riddle or a winter riddle. It's a fair weather riddle, though, for unless it's reasonably fine weather you can't see the thing the riddle is about. Listen now everybody, Nancy and Ned, come in close beside me where you can hear."

"Twinkle, twinkle, little light, High above the world at night, Singing to the silver moon, A jangle tune."

"You are just a tiny spark, Hanging up there in the dark, Like a child from the sun, When day is done."

"You play peep-to with the clouds, That chase each other by in crowds, Clutching with your tiny fingers, One that lingers."

"All your sisters, then, and cousins, Come a crowding out by dozens, Just to see what makes you merry, Jolly fairy!"

"As they wink and blink and twinkle, All the sky looks like a sprinkle Of white sugar on a cake, That fades like."

"Is the Moon Man your big brother? Or is Lady Moon your mother? Does she keep you in all day, And make you play?"

"Mother Goose spoke up then, 'No need for that,' she said, 'I'll take you back on my magic broom.' 'Better still,' put in Daddy Gander, 'I'll take you on my magic duster and the Twins can go along.' (To Be Continued)

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

CHAPTER 187
Zeus, King of the Gods

Zeus was the chief Greek god. He had two brothers, Poseidon and Hades. The three divided power over the world. Poseidon became ruler of the seas. Hades took control of the underworld, the kingdom of the dead. Zeus had power over the bright world of day. He was ruler of the sky and king of the gods. He lived on Mount Olympus. Zeus was the son of Cronus, the god of time. Old Cronus had been very mean to him and his brothers, but they got together and drove their father out of Greece. Zeus was married more than once. His first wife was Metis. She helped him against Cronus. Later he married a goddess named Hera. She was very good looking, but had a jealous nature. That was unlucky for Zeus. He was not a good husband. He had love affairs with quite a few goddesses and beautiful women. Whenever Hera heard of such an affair, she grew hot with rage. Sometimes she took it out by scolding Zeus, but more often she tried to get revenge upon the person who caught his fancy. The Greeks declared that in some cases Zeus took the form of an eagle. An old Greek picture shows Zeus as an eagle bearing a pretty maiden up to heaven. The maiden had been picking flowers on a mountain side. Zeus, flying overhead, saw her and liked her looks. So he came down and persuaded her to let him carry her away.

This is Zeus, king of the gods.

Color Cut-Outs

The Cupid Postman

"Draw a name," whispered Cecille to Betty Cut-out, holding out a box with a slit in the top.

"What for?" questioned Betty. "Inside are the names of all the people who are coming to my valentine party. You must draw one and put a valentine in my party mail box for the one whose name you get."

Betty drew and giggled when she saw the name.

"You must make a valentine for the box yourself," Cecille explained. "It's against the rules to buy one."

Betty Cut-out made her valentine that very night. She colored this Cupid Postman with yellow hair, red cheeks and cupid bow mouth, put a red heart on his cap, then she cut him out. She cut a red heart four inches across and a white heart six inches wide. The white one was cut in scallops and the red one pasted on top with Cupid in the center.

Former G.O.P. Chief Called To Testify In Teapot Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—John T. King, former republican national committeeman from Connecticut today was subpoenaed by the senate committee investigating the oil scandal.

At the same time subpoenas were issued for Guy Stevens and Thomas Lee, New York.

The three witnesses, ordered to appear Thursday, are to give testimony opening a new line of inquiry by the committee, dealing with the connection of Albert B. Fall's Mexican investigation, while he was a senator, with the leasing of oil lands and with large profits said to have been made by men close to the government, out of advance knowledge of secret oil deals.

Souls of Woodrow Wilson and Rudolph Lambert mingle today.

As decorated diplomats and knighted foreign attaches bow in homage to America's dead wartime chief, Port Arthur citizens will gather tomorrow afternoon in memory of the late ex-president Woodrow Wilson.

While out of the beloved shadow of the Unknown Soldier's tomb the body of the late helmsman is being borne, interests of Port Arthur will pause in memory of the dead commander-in-chief.

Taps to be Sounded

Taps—a muffled drum—eulogies have will mark the passing of Wilson as his body is being borne to the city—America's first president to be entombed in the city where he gave his life.

Refinery workers of Port Arthur, lumberjacks of the northlands, the Gloucester fish men and his "Alaskan brethren tomorrow will pause at 3 o'clock while the nation mourns her dead.

The city's leaders tomorrow afternoon will have charge of the memorial services in Port Arthur as the nation's leaders direct the ceremonies in S. street.

Business to Take Pause

Business houses have been asked to close for an hour between 3 o'clock and 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Refineries are asked to pause during a five-minute period starting at 3 o'clock during the start of the local observances.

Schools tomorrow afternoon will be dismissed at 2:45 o'clock to permit the children to participate in the services. City hall offices will be closed all day tomorrow.

Ex-service men are requested to wear their uniforms to the services tomorrow afternoon as the American Legion is to participate in the event in a body.

Singing by a choir composed of every choir of the city will be one of the features of the memorial services.

An opening prayer will be said by Rev. V. A. Godbey, T. Alvis Davis giving a eulogy on the dead president and Rev. C. W. Rodgers asking the benediction.

Sing His Favorite Hymns

Three hymns will be sung by the assembly choir, the songs being favorites of the late leader. They will be "The Son of God Goes Out to War," "How Firm a Foundation" and "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Committees appointed to arrange the program included Mrs. A. F. Graham and Mrs. Fitzgerald and Mayor J. P. Logan.

The original committee selected by the mayor included:

Mrs. A. F. Graham, R. L. Drake, C. C. Woodall, Col. C. H. Fitzgerald, Al Bauer, Captain A. A. Nickerson, J. L. Dunn, S. I. Dunn and Rev. C. W. Clapp.

WHIST CLUB POSTPONES WEDNESDAY MEETING

The Wednesday Whist Club will not meet tomorrow as scheduled on account of the memorial services for former President Woodrow Wilson.

The club will meet Thursday at one o'clock luncheon with Mrs. R. H. Woodworth at her home on Woodworth boulevard.

Mayor Asks City to Pause for Hour in Wilson's Honor

To the end that the people of this city may thus show their respect and esteem for the great war president, I hereby proclaim that at 12 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, the public buildings of this city shall be closed and all city employees and officials are requested to attend and take part in the public service to be held at the Federal building, Austin street, Fifth street, at 3 o'clock p. m., Feb. 6, 1924.

It is also requested that business houses close for one hour, from 3 to 4 o'clock for the service, and industrial plants so far as practicable, cease operation, if not throughout the entire period of the service, then at least for five minutes at the hour of the funeral service, in Washington.

Given under my hand and seal as mayor, this 5th day of February, A. D. 1924.

J. P. LOGAN, Mayor.

CITY'S PUMPS NEED REPAIRS

Water Superintendent in Report to Commission

That the condition of the city's pumping stations are not up to par, and that several of the plants are in rather poor condition is shown by the report made public this morning when H. H. Fischer, superintendent of the city water and sewer department, submitted a statement to the city commissioners.

Fischer's report shows that some repairs have been made in the past, but that several are in demand at the present time, and should be attended to. His statement follows:

CENTRAL STATION: In excellent condition, and improved by additions made in January when 600 gallons were placed on the fuel tanks and a telephone installed for the operator.

SHREVEPORT STATION: In need of a new box for one pump, while window lights to the plant need repairing.

PORT ARTHUR HEIGHTS: Need new motor, present machine being started by hand, and motor continuing to run hot.

GILLIAM STATION: Good condition.

ORIGINAL SEWER STATION: Could be improved by the installation of valves on sewer line entering the pit.

RAILROAD AVENUE PLANT: "Good condition."

VICKSBURG STATION: In need of repairs on pumps.

BLIZZARD HALTS SEVEN TRAINS

Communication in West Is Interrupted By Storm

COLD MOVING EASTWARD

Washington Falls Into Grip of Cold Wave

BERKINGTON, Kans., Feb. 5.—Seven Rock Island passenger trains were stalled here today by the storm. Trains number 31, 32, 1, 2, 4, 23 and 24 were unable to move. Crews were working at top speed in efforts to clear the tracks of snow.

Train number 4 is bound from Los Angeles to Chicago; number 21 from North to St. Louis; number 32, Fort Worth and Kansas City, and number 31, Kansas City to Fort Worth.

The snow plow itself, attempting to open the main track became snow bound itself during the morning. The wind was blowing fifty miles an hour, packing the snow hard as ice on the rails and the chance of moving traffic seemed dimmer.

Wireless stations in Chicago, Milwaukee and Minneapolis sought to replace the fallen electric wires. They sent out limited news dispatches and broadcast relief messages.

BLIZZARD MOVES TOWARD ATLANTIC

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—High winds and cold rain today brought to the east a forecast of the western cold wave which is sweeping toward the Atlantic seaboard. The entire east will be in the grip of the cold by tonight or tomorrow.

Wind and rain will become increasingly strong over the Atlantic seaboard through the day, according to the latest prediction. The temperature will drop all through the day, the weather bureau predicted.

12 Bid to Carry Mail to Postoffice

Time for bidding on carrying mail between the depots and the postoffice yesterday was closed with 12 bids submitted to Postmaster S. I. Dunn. Bids received here were sealed and will be forwarded to the department at Washington for a decision, the contract being issued out of the headquarters office of the postal service.

VERY DAMAGE CASE ON TRIAL

Port Arthur Man Sues Pleasure Pier Manager

BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 5.—The case of A. B. Avery, of Port Arthur, originally styled against the city of Port Arthur, finally came to trial Tuesday morning before Judge E. A. McDowell. The case has been set a number of times, but has always been postponed before.

The case was first filed jointly against the city of Port Arthur and C. E. Dunstan, former manager of the Pleasure Pier, but on a demurrer filed by Dunstan and White, Port Arthur attorneys, the city was held not liable for the death of Miss Ruth Avery which occurred on April 8, 1920.

It is charged that the operators of the pleasure pier were negligent in leaving the bridge across the ship channel suspended and in the darkness, the driver of an automobile in which Miss Avery was riding, drove off the bank and into the channel where Miss Avery was drowned. Damages to the sum of $25,000 have been asked for by her mother and father.

The first witness testifying this morning declared that at the time of the accident, the car was being driven at a speed of not over 15 miles an hour and that this speed was checked near the approach to the bridge.

C. W. Henth represents the plaintiffs in the case and C. A. Lutz, of Beaumont and Assistant City Attorney Fred White of Port Arthur are defendants.

ADAMS ASKS RETRIAL

BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 5.—The amended petition, requesting a new trial for Verlie Adams, 19-year-old boy recently given a 5-year sentence for the murder of Miss Essie Carl and P. O. Rial was filed in 5th district court Monday. February 15 is the last day in which Judge O'Brien can pass on the petition. The petition sets forth several alleged errors in the proceedings.

WITNESSES RETURN

BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 5.—A number of city police officers, Night Captain A. C. Danahara, Special Officer W. E. Jones and Ray Stidwell returned Tuesday morning from Tyler where they were called as witnesses in the case of M. T. Gonzales and William Nitzke, federal prohibition officers, charged with murder in connection with the shooting of the late H. E. Snowers. A continuance in the case was granted to May 19 at Shawhan by Randolph Bryant, the result of an agreement between him and Gallo-way Calhoun, county attorney of Smith county, who represents the state.

DR. CUNNINGHAM STRICKEN

BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 5.—Dr. W. M. Cunningham, physician and surgeon, was stricken with paralysis here this morning and little hope is held for his recovery. Dr. Cunningham, who is near 70 years of age has a wide reputation as a surgeon. A score of local physicians were at his bedside today.

Teeth Stains Removed

—for Few Cents!

No More Yellow Teeth—New Discovery Whitens Teeth Instantly

A new harmless treatment has been discovered which—given in only three minutes—cleans, whitens, and brightens the teeth. This new treatment, called Bleachodent Combination, consists of a mild acid liquid and a new kind of paste. The liquid cleanses and softens the teeth, while the paste gently removes them and prevents the formation of new stains. Tobacco stains, often completely disappear after a few applications. Bleachodent Combination is a new scientific product, perfected by dental specialists who knew that there must be a better, safer and less expensive way to clean teeth than the old way of having them scoured an hour by harmful, gritty abrasives. Bleachodent Combination is especially recommended for children's teeth, as their teeth are in a soft formative period during which gritty pastes or too dense should be avoided, and only a mild cleanser like Bleachodent Combination, which bleaches out stains but has no effect on the enamel, should be used. Bleachodent Combination does not affect enamel as its safe ingredients are intended to act only on the cause of the teeth stains—a substance called "tannin" which collects on teeth and forms a hard coating or stain.

Latest News From Louisiana Towns

LAKE CHARLES, La.—John H. Poo, Calcasieu parish democratic executive committee chairman, and Roy L. Deaton, committee secretary, have been enjoined from placing the name of O. H. Castle on the official ballot of the party as candidate in the second primary for nomination to one of the two places as police juror in ward 3 (Lake Charles and vicinity). The primary is to be held February 15. The injunction was made by attorneys representing H. G. Chalkley following the acceptance of Castle's name for publication on the ballot, and is the outgrowth of a ruling handed down by supreme court recently concerning the eligibility of candidates, that of Castle being questioned.

It's Your Own Fault If You Don't Live 150 Years, Says

With the declaration that people did not live out their normal length of life if they did not live to be at least one hundred and fifty years, Mrs. Edna McCullum Jones, efficiency expert and psychologist, delivered her first lecture on "The New Psychology of Life" at the Plaza Hotel last night. Mrs. Jones declared that that is the secret of life the Creator meant for human beings to live and it is only because the race has gone on for centuries looking for every natural law that its days upon the earth have become so short.

"There is no reason why every individual cannot make the three promises of this new science come to pass in his or her life, and they are that every one who will learn the laws of life and obey them will be well happy and successful," Mrs. Jones said. "I am sorry that I cannot say that the new psychology is for everybody, but the fact remains that it is for only those people who are willing to take it."

Just as large corporations are today making the most of experts along efficiency lines, so in the future the world in general is going to ask of every man and woman, "What can you do and do well?" No one is ever able to do his best work mentally or physically if he has not abundant health. This is the first law of efficiency and those who do not know and obey the laws of health will have to give way in the mental realm to those who are more vigorous.

Mrs. Jones will speak tomorrow afternoon at 3:15 o'clock on "Building Brains to Order." Miss Margery Graham for some special work will join Mrs. Jones today and assist on the platform. Mrs. Jones said last night that she will answer all written questions at the close of each lecture.

LOVE LETTERS

MRS. ODESSIE BRADY, 635 Tenth street—Love is a precious gift from God that guides and directs every living creature and endures every conceivable test.

ADRIE ELLISON, 1801 Seventh street—Love is that feeling which brings out the best in a person.

MRS. R. W. SUMRALL, 703 Fort Worth avenue—Love is consecration, administration, sincerity, faith, clarity, happiness, sorrow, sacrifice, sympathy, bravery, kindness, respect, patience, ambition, mystery, nature and duty.

MRS. E. L. LAMN, 627 Thomas boulevard—Love means be always kind and never angry. Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

MRS. E. L. SMART, 2821 Twelfth street—Love is a tender feeling in any one's heart for any particular person or thing.

SADIE ALOE, 2745 Twelfth street—Love is wonderful, it sacrifices all and asks for return. The feeling a mother has for her child is love.

CHARLIE A. GILMORE, 2212

NATH STREET—The creation of God for faith, affection, and happiness. The fulfillment of the law.

BETSY ROSS, Mary Gates Hospital—Love is a disease that causes palpitation of the heart and intermittent pulse.

JEAN M. CAZANT, 115 Eighth street—Love is a real torment and is just like smoke—it cannot be hidden.

W. JAWSON, 2120 Tenth street—Love is the essence of Divine Law and the human spirit; the rudimental element of the soul. God's greatest blessing.

R. J. SHEPARD, Sgt. of Police—Love: The insane desire of a man to let a woman make a jactance of him.

H. D. THORP, Police dept.—Love is a "hoil."

MRS. R. D. KIRKINDALL, 2821 Twelfth street—Love is the greatest thing in the world.

J. C. CHARDIN, 615 Fifth street—Love is the main feeling in the living mind, whether it is the human mind or otherwise.

STOVL HOSPITAL, Phone 2107—Love is like an oil stove—their both need encouragement and adjustment.

MRS. F. W. KERNE, 1117 Procter street—Love is the center pole of life's circus. Love is the principle of existence and its only end. Love is second life; it grows into the soul; love is the divine vitality that produces and restores life.

R. G. SMITH, 3214 Twelfth street—Love is hot and suddenly cold. It makes the timid very bold. It makes an old fool younger yet, it makes him cuss, laugh and sweat.

J. P. MAY, 1126 E. Sixteenth street—Love is the most abused word in the language. Hypocritically we use it to cover impulses and desires.

EMMETT C. BYROM, 1609 Thirtieth street—A loud dog is the only thing that has love because it will stay with you whether you have water to drink or food to eat.

SADIE MAE BYROM, 1609 Thirtieth street—There is no such thing as love. For when poverty comes in the front door, love goes out the back.

FRANK BYROM, 1609 Thirtieth street—Love is a tickling sensation around the heart and two fools trying to scratch it.

J. A. LEBLANC, 437 Fort Worth avenue—Love is a strong feeling of affection, especially to one of the opposite sex; devoted affection for or attachment to.

MRS. J. P. MAY, 1126 E. Sixteenth street—Love is an ascension, an exchange that enables both man and woman to reach spiritual heights neither could attain alone.

HOUSE MAY ACT ON SHOALS SOON

McKenzie Would Edge in Bill Ahead of Tax

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The house rules committee had under consideration today a rule to bring the Ford offer for Muscle Shoals to a vote in the house next week.

Representative McKenzie, Illinois, author of the bill, said after conference with members of the committee that a decision would be reached "in two or three days."

McKenzie and Representative Almon, representing the Muscle Shoals district in Alabama, conferred with Chairman Snell of the rules committee and Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee to secure early consideration of the Ford offer.

Opponents of the Ford offer, led by Representative Hull, Iowa, were outspoken in opposition to the move to edge the Ford bill in ahead of the tax bill, which will be reported, it is understood, next Monday.

KERCHIEF SCARES

Brught handkerchiefs are still being worn as scarfs especially in connection with sports costumes. They either lie loosely from the neck or are drawn tightly and thrown to one side.

"BLIND AS A BAT"

That's the impression so many people give you who still go day after day as if "under a cloud," because they feel that there is no hope for them to get rid of the disfiguring blotches on their skin.

If they would just notice or ask their dealer, they would find that thousands of people who once were in the same shape they are in, are now free from those distressing pimples, blotches, bumps, freckles, eczema, ringworm, "breaking out," etc., and the secret of it is that they have learned that the one sure way to do it is by using the wonderful Black and White Ointment.

Black and White Ointment is economically priced in liberal size packages. The 50c size contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have it—guaranteed.

PROMINENT HAMLIN GIRL STUDENT DIES

HAMLIN, Texas, Feb. 5.—All business houses closed Friday afternoon and a shadow of gloom hovered over the entire town because of the death of Miss Sophia Alayne Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Wilson, a prominent family of this city. Miss Alayne was president of the high school senior class.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE GLORY OF YOUNG MEN IN THEIR STRENGTH; AND THE BEAUTY OF OLD MEN IS THE GRAY HEAD.—PROV. 20:29.

The Editorial Mind

However,
Common—
Odds and Ends and Comments on Our Morning Mail

Electrification of motor trucks in the east has brought about a considerable problem. Here's something you may not know.
More single men operate motor trucks than married men. More married men operate electric trucks than single men.
Now, what has the state of being married or unmarried got to do with it?
Well, it has. There's an answer.

The single man who came off the motor truck to operate the electric vehicle was a fish out of water. "How can you love a piece of tin and battery like you do an engine?" he asked. Whereupon he goes and gets married as an antidote to his loneliness.

Some of the older Port Arthur boys can remember when motor trucks succeeded horses. The affection given old Dobbin was hard to transfer to the new contraption.
Perhaps some of the wives wouldn't be very flattered, but as long as we keep this to ourselves, fellows, how're you going to find out?

From Cuzco comes a little report of a big good turn.

In K. 22, Kiangsi, during a recent small pox epidemic, medical authorities were working to protect the community by inoculating all inhabitants against the disease, and the overworked doctors and nurses were in dire need of assistance.

At this point an American lad, a member of Scout Troop 1, at the Kuling American school, offered his services, which were promptly accepted. He set a record by washing the arms of 1000 coolies in preparation for their vaccination.

The Boy Scout movement is a great institution. Port Arthur has several hundred of its boys in active Scout work and one day they will be citizens of which their parents may be proud.

As the twig inclines, so the tree is bent.

The public spirited man, in a broad sense, never asks for pay in the obligations he owes his community. "Does soap demand pay for cleaning human hands?" he asks. "Good! human hands are also clean communities, made clean by men and women who take the same pride in it as they do their homes."

You might be interested to learn in this connection that from William Crozier, Port Arthur, the man for whom Crozier street was named, declares that we're getting cleaner.

Some 2,000 millions pounds of soap and soap products are now being consumed annually in the 22,000,000 families in the United States and it costs the average family but $10 a year to keep clean, he says in a report to the National Foreign Trade Council of one desk.

That's not very much money, come to think about it.

There's little excuse for being dirty when it is so easy to keep clean, laundry and all, for 2 cents a day per family.

The materialist tells us that human emotions are but chemical reactions, through our condensation of brain and nerve cells, which we eat. Each of us is a piece of chemical machinery, a walking laboratory which has created its own successful experiment. This is highly technical, and it is interesting to know that a hard fact man with education and thought can come to a conclusion that makes more amusements of the human race.

For example, we prefer to take credit for our thoughts, especially when they are good ones. It is ludicrous, true, of course, that food, emotions, does make bad ones, but that's not the point.

Do you remember when you were a child how you made soda water at home? A glass of water, a touch of soda and sugar, a little vanilla, and it's done. The fizzy, of course, was due to chemical process. Do you believe that your thoughts are the result of "fizzing" in your brain as the result of nourishment from food carried there by the blood flow?

Not very flattering. A piece of mine pie is light like a man; pumpkin pie sell him an automobile; pumpkin pie sell him a business deal with thousands in it; pumpkin pie, for instance, might be the means of causing you to fall in love.

Anyone who reads the definitions of love as made by hundreds of Port Arthur people in the News contest knows pie, ice cream, cake and all have nothing to do with it.

Food nourishes us, sometimes kills us, makes us fit cooks and causes some bachelors to get married who claim a man with brains won't never do it. There explodes the materialist's claims.

20 'FAGS' DAILY CUTS BLOOD, DOCTOR SAYS
LONDON, Feb. 5.—The United States is the world's most neurotic country, with Britain a close second, said Dr. Walter E. Dixon, Cambridge University professor in a lecture on "Alcohol Addicts" at the Royal Institution. Neurotic are easy drug addicts, he asserted, adding that coffee and tea are drugs as well as alcohol.
"Anyone who smokes 20 cigarettes a day puts 5 per cent of his blood to play," Dr. Dixon quipped.

YALE FACULTY VOTES DRY BUT ONLY BY 3 VOTES

Faculty of Yale College has voted dry, for prohibition law enforcement and against the modification of the Volstead act. The faculty voted eighty-six for enforcement, eighty-three for modification and forty-eight for repeal.

Connecticut is said to be the land of steady habits. In that state the Yankee farmer loves his cider and he doesn't care how hard it grows. Connecticut never did take kindly to prohibition but it must have been a sad shock to Dr. Atticus Webb of Texas when he read in the public prints that the faculty of Yale voted dry by only three votes.

College professors are uplifters as well as educators. They are welfare workers as well as worshipful masters of their youthful flocks. They are walking guideposts of the age in which they live for the lowbrows who are ever in a mighty majority. If half the highbrows are wet, why damn the lowbrows for clamoring for something stronger than water?

W. J. B. has made a smoke screen of evolution to conceal his real plans and programs. He has picked Murphree of Florida for standard bearer of the democratic hosts this year. Murphree may not know it but he is the Bryan goat now in training to be the rider of the democratic donkey for the sweepstakes prize in November.

Platform: Down with the ape-man, down with the beerleg, away with the winebibber, throttle the whiskey drinker, and make our father William lord of all the children of Uncle Sam. Genius is off times discovered in lonely spots. Murphree for a time, taught the young idea how to shout at Van Alstyne. Look at him now, buried in the Everglades until W. J. B. dragged him out of the thicket.

It is impossible for an immortal to bury himself and hide his light under a bushel. Fame drags him out of his lair and exposes him to the world in all his nakedness.

WALSH ON GUARD

Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana is the Nemesis ever on the trail of the Teapot Dome conspirators. Cato Sells who was Indian Commissioner eight years when Woodrow Wilson was in flower, declared Walsh the ablest lawyer in the American senate as well as the foremost champion of the peoples rights.

He had been on the trail for months before he bagged the game. He cornered Fall, he asked McLean where Fall got the money, he chased Sinclair out of the country, he forced young Roosevelt to resign, he has asked for the resignation of Daugherty and Denby and he dragged the Doherty secret from the heart of the California petroleum king who made millions in Mexico, millions in California and who hoped to make a hundred million dollars, according to his own testimony, by working a naval oil reserve which he had leased from the not overly fastidious Fall of New Mexico.

Walsh was born in the west, he was schooled in the west, he is saturated with the virile patriotism and rugged honesty of the west and he has made history for Walsh as well as history for his country by exploiting the amazing and almost incredible transactions of the principal conspirators in what was known as the "Teapot Dome mystery". It isn't a mystery now. It has played hell with the fortunes as well as the reputations of many individuals.

Harry P. Sinclair's verdict is that the "entire situation is a political move and a case of American politics." Sinclair isn't even an oily humorist. The entire situation is a national disgrace and a case of American wrath.

ANOTHER PLACE OF REFUGE

Arrival of Germans in America has been tremendous during the last fiscal year. This exhausted the quota limit and no more Germans will be permitted to land until July. Uncle Sam is getting ready to close the ports in the faces of aliens. South American countries have thrown wide open their ports. There is to be a new Germany in Brazil and a new Italy in Argentina. Now what of the future? These Pan-American nations are almost debt free, taxes are very low and opportunities are luring.

Japan is floating a sixty-million dollar bond issue in America. Good stuff. We shut the jaws out and they are our best customers in the Orient.

CHRONIC NEPHRITIS

Chronic nephritis is a disease of the kidneys when the process is in the stage of sclerosis, atrophy and contraction, whatever may have been the primal cause.

Two important reasons for the prevalence of chronic nephritis (Bright's disease) which takes a death-toll of about 70,000 each year in the United States, are:

First, the disease is caused from some bacterial infection from an earlier attack of some disease.

Second, it is due in many cases to a high use of protein foods (meats) and animal products. Arterio sclerosis, or hardening of the smaller arteries, and general contraction of the kidneys, is another cause.

Where infection is clearly the cause the primal agent, were usually gonorrhea and scarlet fever. Even though the attack may be local, the most careful and skillful treatment is necessary to ward off any future attacks on the kidneys from the poison of these destroyers.

Absence of protein requirements is probably 75 per cent of people in the temperate latitudes as a strong cause of induration against chronic nephritis. Europeans and people of the United States and Canada consume far larger amounts of protein in the form of meat or animal food than do the people of tropical countries. Tropical people are far more temperate in their eating, and rarely, if ever, suffer a crisis from chronic nephritis.

The common habit of over-eating throws off too much work on the kidneys, and excessive work of this sort weakens any organs or glands to the danger point of disease and atrophic condition. The sensible diet is a strong weapon with which to fight off chronic nephritis. Vary your diet with vegetables and fruits and vegetable oils whenever possible. They act as a strong count balance to the protein foods.

Do not on any account, if you believe yourself afflicted with chronic nephritis, ever counsel with some medicine that claims to be a kidney cure. Such treatment is usually of no value and often causes real harm to the over-worked kidneys.

WASHINGTON

BY HAROLD MYSTON

NEX Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Somebody back in 1811, or thereabouts, told the builders of this city that "a straight line is one of duty, a curved line one of beauty" and there, being politicians, they took it.

Building men, says an New York, San Francisco or Chicago is childishly concerned to the three straight lines in Washington.

Between the curved lines of beauty, with the curved heads and oval, and the straight lines of duty with the straight, tapered and triangles, it is a real dilemma for a stranger to get out alive.

Racial streets, looking in all directions from the capital, give a map of the city the aspect of a boy's drawing.

Intermittent, along each avenue there is a circle, nearly as big as a football field. The street names itself around these circles.

"Strange city," Washington has been called. Representatives of our nation could never make a living advance on the capital.

The street car company should post some such advice as this in their cars:

"If it looks as though you are going away from your destination you are on the right car."

Bound for the capital building, one sees it on the left, then on the left, behind and ahead. (One imagines the car gets there by waiting its way along a swing, step, a complete turn and a slide.)

Every car seems to reach the Union Station some place along its route. No matter where you are bound you are reasonably sure to offer a minute or two delay while your car waits for another passenger at the station.

That's one consolation for the stranger. When he is leaving town he can't help but find the station.

CIRCULERS OF GLOBE TO USE PIGEONS

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 5.—Carrier pigeons as well as wireless will be used by the four United States army relays which will leave Seattle about April 1 on their globe-circling flight, it was announced today by Lieutenant Clayton Biswell, advance officer of the First division.

Your Money AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

The high income tax and tax exempt securities are not the problems of the rich man. It is the "average man" who is losing on this combination. He loses in two ways.

If the rich man of today works with his money and brains to develop a successful business, he must turn over 70 per cent of his income in taxes. Evidently then he is likely to put his money into tax exempt securities and go on a vacation.

What difference does that make to us? In the first place we pay his share of taxes, in addition to our own. He doesn't have to pay any tax on tax exempt securities, so some one else must pay his share.

Secondly, we lose a good workman. The rich man could afford to develop natural resources, but who should he when it loses money for him? Sure, he would eat up 50 per cent of his profits. He has the ability to improve himself and lower the cost of living for all of us, but why should he work hard when he can make more by buying tax exempt securities?

When the rich man buys tax exempt securities he not only pays higher taxes, but he loses capable workmen who are responsible for raising the standard of living in the last two generations.

ABIE

"Abie's Irish Rose" apparently is going to be the most financially successful theatrical production since "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Along Broadway, the showmen figure that Abie will pull down a total of 20 million dollars in royalties. It can, for instance, 20 weeks in Pittsburgh, where there was a tradition that no Broadway production could last more than a week.

The highbrow critics in New York panned the far out of "Abie's Irish Rose" when it was first produced. The more fruit in the branches, the more clubs a tree gets.

WINTER

The sun crossed the equator, going south, late in September. That was the astronomical equinox, bringing the customary storms. These storms gradually extend their field of activity southward following the sun. Then comes winter, which is nature's reminder that the chance called death is merely a sleep with a rebirth of life to follow in the spring.

Old people usually dread winter. It is symbolic of death.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Clare Jewett, in love with the Rev. Daniel Gilchrist, marries Jerry Goodkind for his money. Daniel is dismissed from the fashionable Church of the Nativity in New York because of his radical sermons.

A delegation of strikers comes north to interview the president and directors. An agreement which Gilchrist drew up for the miners is shown to Goodkind and Daniel gives the magnates 24 hours in which to sign.

"Overcoat Hall," a refuge for the unemployed, is established by Gilchrist, and apartments with bath and the poor are maintained at a minimum cost. George Goodkind calls at the hall.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"That's what I wanted to ask you. I'm in need of money and my father—"

"Your father understood you well enough to let you only an income. I foolishly turned over some principal to you and you threw away $30,000. You could have had a big salary and you threw that away. You're an utter damned waster—if you're no worse."

"What do you mean—worse?" Daniel asked with a frown.

"You've found out what I mean. You've thrown your wife down here. Haven't you?"

"Once or twice."

"Or three times—or a dozen. He knows."

"He asked her to come again and she asked her to come again."

"Please," Gilchrist lifted a hand in protest.

"Oh, my son told me," continued Goodkind. "And I hear—in the neighborhood—that you've worse women than that running in here. Women of the streets."

"Not many," said Daniel calmly. "They're welcome but they don't come."

"Well, that's your business. And if your neighbors get sick of having a resort of this kind in their midst, and drive you out, that's your business, too. But my son's wife—"

"Her business," Daniel interrupted.

"And his," came back Goodkind. "Only Jerry's in no condition to settle the matter. He's broken down from worry and overwork and you're partly responsible. That puts it up to me. This is a final warning. If you see Clare again, I'll act. That's all, good night."

"Oh, Mr. Goodkind," Daniel waved, as if from a distance. "How about the money?"

"You've had what's coming to you. But that's nothing. I pay half that for these houses and I've none in debt fitting them up."

"With balls and tennis courts?"

"People must have baths."

"Expensive dirty immigrants," Goodkind stormed.

"The dirtier they are, the more they need them," Gilchrist smiled. "I want to show them how to live—and show other people that you don't have to have a piece to make a profit."

"Are you making a profit?" asked Goodkind scornfully.

"Enthusiastically," answered Gilchrist. "And, to go on, I've got to have $22,000."

"Oh, is that all?" scoffed the visitor. "You want $22,000 to go on making a fool of yourself. Well, you won't get it."

"Not even as an advance?" pleaded Daniel.

"Not a penny."

"Don't drive me to—!" Gilchrist panted.

"To ask for an accounting," said Daniel, rather at a loss.

Goodkind stared at him in amazement.

"To ask for—what?" he thundered. "Now, listen to me. I've stood all I'm going to stand. You're run mad. You've become dangerous to yourself and me—and the neighborhood. You're going to stop it, and you're going to stop it now."

"That's your mistake," said Daniel, still tranquil.

"Is it? A year ago you gave me 24 hours to sign a paper, and I did it, and it cost me $2,000,000. Tonight I give you 30 minutes to shut up this place and you're going to shut up. As I won't," said the unperturbed figure.

"I'll be here inside half an hour with a doctor."

"And then?" Gilchrist didn't understand.

"Then we'll file a petition to have you declared incompetent."

Goodkind laughed his stick on the floor for emphasis and started for the door.

"You don't mean that," said Daniel, rather helplessly. "You don't mean that because I'm trying to help—"

"Help—what?" returned Goodkind, wheezing. "Striders and street women and general riff-raff. And you don't even help them—because nobody can. And if you could, and that's how in the name of God would that help the community. If I find you're still running down here in half an hour, I'll say you're crazy and I'll prove it. He moved toward the door. "Think it over."

Goodkind reached for the knob as the door was swung open from the other side. Goodkind backed a step to admit a tall, neatly dressed, brawny man.

"Excuse me," said the intruder, politely.

Goodkind glowered at the man, then his face half lighted with recognition.

"Haven't I seen you somewhere before?"

fore?" he said reflectively.

The man turned to answer.

"Yes, I think so," he said. "My name's Umanski."

"Umanski?" Goodkind repeated. "Then he remembered. 'You're not the Pole who came to my house last year with a delegation?'"

"Yes," said Umanski, quietly.

"Well, I'll be—!" C asked surprised him in surprise.

"Mr. Gilchrist, all me stay in New York," the Pole explained. "I've been to the Pole who came to my house last year with a delegation?"

"I'll see you in half an hour," came the answer and the door closed.

CHAPTER XVII

Cinderella

Umanski's eyes, minus the hatred they once held, but still steady and serious, had been turned intently on Goodkind as he talked.

"What's he doing down here?" asked Umanski with certain anxiety.

"He's a Pole who came to my house last year with a delegation?"

"Who said that?" Daniel looked up seriously.

"A woman named Melinda."

"Oh, yes," Daniel relaxed again. "I took his daughter in here once for a week, and he got sober."

"There's a lot of many like that," pursued the other.

"Not so many."

"Enough to make trouble. Why not carry a pistol?"

"It's generally men with pistols who get shot," said Gilchrist with quiet reflection.

"One of them fellows get you—"

"I brought you some money," he said. "My boss has me another raise. He gonna make me boss after a while. So I like to begin to pay back what you lend me."

Gilchrist waved him aside.

"I brought you some money," he said. "My boss has me another raise. He gonna make me boss after a while. So I like to begin to pay back what you lend me."

Gilchrist waved him aside.

However,
Odds and Ends and Comment on Our Morning
Mail

Electrification of motor trucks in the East has brought about a considerable problem. Here's something you may not know.

More single men operate motor trucks than married men. More married men operate electric trucks than single men.

Now, what has the state of being married or unmarried got to do with it?

Well, it has. There's an answer.

The single man who came off the motor truck to operate the electric vehicle was a fish out of water. "How can you love a piece of tin and battery like you do an engine?" he asks. Whereupon he goes and gets married as an antidote to his loneliness.

Some of the older Port Arthur boys can remember when motor trucks succeeded horses. The affection given old Dobbin was hard to transfer to the new contraption.

Perhaps some of the wives wouldn't be very flattered, but as long as we keep this to ourselves, fellows, how're they going to find out?

From China comes a little report of a big good turn.

In K'ang, Kiangsi, during a recent smallpox epidemic, medical authorities were working to protect the community by inoculating all inhabitants against the disease, and the overworked doctors and nurses were in dire need of assistance.

At this point an American lad, a member of Scout Troop 1, at the Kiang American school, offered his services, which were promptly accepted. He set a record by washing the arms of 1,000 coolies in preparation for their vaccination.

The Boy Scout movement is a great institution. Port Arthur has several hundred of its boys in active Scout work and come day they will be citizens of which their parents may be proud.

As the twig inclines, so the tree is bent.

The public spirited man, in a broad sense, never asks for pay in the obligations he owes his community.

"Does soap demand pay for cleansing human hands?" he asks. Good communities are also clean communities, made clean by men and women who take the same pride in it as they do their homes.

You might be interested to learn in this connection that from William Procter, the man for whom Procter street was named, declares that we're getting cleaner.

Some 2,000 millions pounds of soap and soap products are now being consumed annually by the 22,000,000 families in the United States, and it costs the average family but $10 a year to keep clean, he says in a report to the National Foreign Trade Council on our desk.

That's not very much money, come to think about it.

There's little excuse for being dirty when it's easy to keep clean, laundry and all, for 5 cents a day per family.

The materialist tells us that human emotions are but chemical reactions, through our condensation of brain and nerve cells, of what we eat. Each of us is a piece of vital machinery, a walking laboratory which has created its own successful experiment. This is highly technical and it is interesting to know that had it not been for education and thought came to a conclusion that makes more assumptions of the human race.

Personally, we prefer to take credit for our thoughts, especially when they are good ones. It is literally true, of course, that food sometimes does make bad ones, but for instance.

Do you remember when you were a child how you made sodawater at home? A glass of water, a touch of soda and vinegar, a little vanilla, and it fizzed. The fizz of course, was due to chemical process. Do you believe that your thoughts are the result of "fizzing" in your brain as the result of nourishment from food carried there by the blood flow?

Not very flattering. A piece of mince pie might lift a man; pumpkin pie tell him an automobile; ice cream cause him to pull a business deal with thousands in it; your favorite food, for instance, might be the means of causing you to fall in love.

Anyone who reads the definitions of love as made by hundreds of Port Arthur people in The News cannot know the ice cream cake and all have nothing to do with it.

"Food nourishes us, sometimes kills us, makes us fire cooks and causes some bachelors to get married while claim a man with brains would never do it. There exploits the materialist's claims.

CHRONIC NEPHRITIS

Chronic nephritis is a disease of the kidneys when the process is in the stage of sclerosis, atrophy and contraction, whatever may have been the primal cause.

Two important reasons for the prevalence of chronic nephritis (Bright's disease) which takes a death-toll of about 70,000 each year in the United States, are:

First, the disease is caused from some bacterial infection from an earlier attack of some disease.

Second, it is due in many cases to a high use of protein food (meats) and animal products. Arterio sclerosis, or hardening of the smaller arteries, and general contraction of the kidneys, is another cause.

Where infection is clearly the cause the primal agents were usually gonorrhea and scarlet fever. Even though the attack may be light, the most careful and skillful treatment is necessary to ward off any future attacks on the kidneys from the poison of these diseases.

Abuse of protein requirements in probably 75 per cent of people in the temperate latitudes is a strong cause of indolent chronic nephritis. Europeans and people of the United States and Canada consume far larger amounts of protein in the form of meat or animal food, than do the races of tropical countries. Tropical people are far more temperate in their eating, and rarely, if ever, suffer from chronic nephritis.

The common habit of overeating throws off too much work on the kidneys, and excessive work of this sort weakens any organs or glands to the danger point of disease and atrophied condition. The feasible diet is a strong weapon with which to fight off chronic nephritis. Vary your diet with vegetables and fruits and vegetable oils whenever possible. They act as a strong counter-balance to the protein foods.

Do not on any account, if you believe yourself afflicted with chronic nephritis, dose yourself with some medicine that claims to be a kidney cure. Such treatment is usually of no value and often causes real harm to the overworked kidneys.

Between the cars' lines of being, with the circles, bows and ovals, and the straight lines of duty, with the squares, triangles and trapezoids, it is a real a-bra-cadabra for a stranger to get out alive.

Radial streets, shooting in all directions from the capitol, give a map of the city the aspect of a boy's drawings of the sun, moon and stars. Intermittently, along each avenue there is a circle, marks as big as a football field. The street winds itself around these circles.

"Strategic city," Washington has been called. Revolutionists or enemies could never make a landing advance on the capitol.

The street car company should post some such advice as this in their cars: "If it looks as though you are going away from your destination you are on the right car."

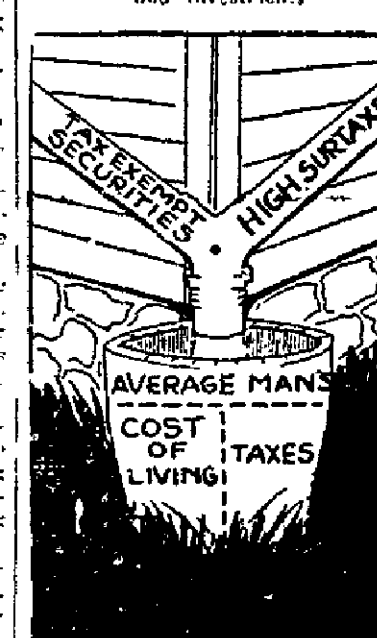

Bound for the capitol building, one sees it on the left, then on the left, behind and ahead. One imagines the car gets there by waltzing its way along a swing, step, a complete turn and a glide.

Every car seems to reach the Union Station some place along its route. No matter where you are bound you are reasonably sure to suffer a minute or two delay while your car waits for another passenger at the station.

That's one consolation for the stranger. When he is leaving town he can't help but find the station.

Your Money AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

The high income tax and tax exempt securities are not the province of the rich man. It is the "average man" who is losing on this combination.

If the rich man of today works with his money and brains to develop a successful business, he must turn over 70 per cent of his income in taxes. Evidently then he is likely to put his money in tax exempt securities and so on a variation.

What difference does that make to us? In the first place we pay his share of taxes, in addition to our own. He doesn't have to pay any tax on tax exempt securities, so some one else must pay his share.

Secondly, we lose a good workman. The rich man could afford to develop natural resources, but why should he when it costs money for him? Surpluses would cut up 70 per cent of his profits. He has the ability to improve industry and lower the cost of living for all of us, but why should he work hard when he can make more by buying tax exempt securities?

When the rich man buys tax exempt securities we not only pay higher taxes, but we lose capable workmen who were responsible for raising the standard of living in the last two generations.

It's a circular road to the White House—literally, in this instance. And it is said, in the innermost circles, that there is a way of getting around certain legislation with resulting reductions of whiffs and more circles.

TOURIST, AGED 13, BECOMES HOMESICK

SHERMAN, Texas, Feb. 5.—A 13-year-old Mustang, Okla., boy who left home a few days ago to see the world, decided upon reaching Sherman that he had seen enough for the present after policemen found him wandering the streets and carried him to the police station. His father in Mustang was notified, but he informed the officers he was unable to send for the boy and advised them to start him back to Mustang. After writing his father a letter at the police station, the youth started on his homeward journey.

CIRCULERS OF GLOBE TO USE PIGEONS

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 5.—Carrier pigeons as well as wireless will be used by the four United States army aviators who will leave Seattle about April 1 on their globe-encircling flight. It was announced today by Lieutenant Clayton Bissell, advance officer of the first division.

WINTER

The sun crossed the equator, going south, late in September. That was the astronomical equinox, bringing the customary storms. These storms gradually extend their field of activity southward following the sun. Then comes winter, which is nature's reminder that the change called death is merely a sleep with a rebirth of life to follow in the spring. Old people usually dread winter. It is symbolic of death.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Clare Jewett, in love with the Rev. Daniel Gilchrist, marries Jerry Goodkind for his money. Daniel is disowned from the fashionable Church of the Nativity in New York because of his ill-fated sermon.

A delegation of strikers comes north to interview the president and directors. An agreement which Gilchrist drew up for the miners is shown to Goodkind and Daniel gives the delegates 24 hours in which to sign.

"Overcoat Hall," a refuge for the unemployed, is established by Gilchrist, and apartments with bachelors' pool are maintained at a minimum rent. George Goodkind calls at the hall.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"That's what I wanted to ask you. I'm in need of money and my father—"

"Your father understood you well enough to leave you only an income. I foolishly turned over some principal to you and you threw away $30,000. You could have had a big salary and you threw that away. You're an utter damned waster—if you're no worse."

"What do you mean—worse?" Daniel asked with a frown.

"You find out what I mean. You've had your son's wife down here, haven't you?"

"Once or twice."

"Or three times—or a dozen. He knows."

"I've asked her not to come again, and he's asked her—but she comes when she likes. She's in love with you—God knows what women see in your kind of a man. There was Pearl Hennig—"

"Please!" Gilchrist lifted a hand in protest.

"Oh, my son told me," continued Goodkind. "I hear—in the neighborhood—that you've worse women than that running in here. Women of the streets?"

"Not many," said Daniel calmly. "They're welcome but they don't come."

"Well, that's your business. And if your neighbors get sick of having a resort of this kind in their midst, and drive you out, that's your business, too. But my son's wife—"

"Is her business," Daniel interrupted.

"And his," came back Goodkind. "Only Jerry's in no condition to settle the matter. He's broken down from worry and overwork and you're partly responsible. That puts it up to me. This is a final warning. If you see Clare again I'll act. That's all. Good night. He picked up his hat."

"Oh, Mr. Goodkind," Daniel woke, as if from a reverie. "How about the money?"

"You've had what's coming to you. But that's nothing. I pay half that for these houses and I've gone in debt fitting them up."

"With baths and tennis courts?"

"People must have baths."

"These thirty immigrants?" Goodkind stormed.

"The dirtier they are, the more they need them," Gilchrist smiled. "I want to show them how to live—and show other people that you don't have to have a pig-pen to make a profit."

"Are you making a profit?" asked Goodkind scornfully.

"Enormous," answered Gilchrist enthusiastically. "And, to go on, I've got to have $22,000."

"Oh, that's all!" scoffed the visitor. "You want $22,000 to go on making a fool of yourself? Well, you won't get it."

"Not even as an advance?" pleaded Daniel.

"Not a penny."

"Don't drive me to—" Gilchrist paused.

"To ask for an accounting," said Daniel, rather at a loss.

Goodkind stared at him in amazement.

"To ask for—what?" he thundered. "You listen to me. I've stood all night going to stand. You've run around. You've become dangerous to yourself—and me—and the neighborhood. You're going to stop it, and you're going to stop it now."

"That's your mistake," said Daniel, still tranquil.

"Is it? A year ago you gave me 24 hours to sign a paper, and I did it, and it cost me $22,000. Tonight I give you 30 minutes to shut up this place and quit seeing my daughter, and if you don't do it—"

"As I won't," said the unperturbed figure.

"I'll be here inside half an hour with a doctor."

"And then?" Gilchrist didn't understand.

"Then we'll file a petition to have you declared incompetent. You don't mean that because I'm trying to help—"

"Help—whom?" returned Goodkind, wheeling. "Strikers and street women and general riff-raff. And you don't even help them because nobody can. And if you could, and did, how in the name of God could that help the community. If I find you're still ranting down here in half an hour, I'll say you're crazy and I'll prove it." He moved toward the door. "Think it over."

Goodkind reached for the knob as the door was swung open from the other side. Goodkind backed a step to admit a tall, neatly dressed, brawny man.

"Excuse me," said the intruder, politely.

Goodkind glowered at the man, then his face half lighted with recognition.

"Haven't I seen you somewhere before?" he said reflectively.

"The man turned to answer. "Yes, I think so," he said. "My name's Umaniski."

"Umaniski?" Goodkind repeated. Then he remembered. "You're not the Pole who came to my house last year with a delegation?"

"Yes," said Umaniski, quietly.

"Well, I'll be—" Goodkind surveyed him in surprise.

"Mr. Gilchrist, all me stay in New York," the Pole explained. "I teach me English and find me good job. I'm work eight hours on the docks and six on myself now."

Goodkind said nothing, his reached for the door. Gilchrist, idly following his pipe at the mantelpiece, broke in.

"Mr. Goodkind," he said, "Umaniski has an invention. If you'll see it—"

"I'll see you in half an hour," came the answer and the door closed.

CHAPTER XVII

Cinderella

Umaniski's eyes, minus the hatred they once held, but still steady and serious, had been turned intently on Goodkind as he talked.

"What's he doing down here?" asked Umaniski with certain anxiety.

"He says I'm crazy and he's going to shut up this place," Daniel smiled as he dropped into a chair with the relaxation of one tired. "Of course, he won't."

"Don't be too sure," said the Pole thoughtfully.

"Nonsense," returned Gilchrist. "I made him angry. And somebody told him a lot of lies."

"Somebody's told a good many people lies," said Umaniski. "Yesterday I heard a man say you run this place—to—to—get women."

"Who said that?" Daniel looked up seriously.

"A wop named Malduca."

"Oh, yes," Daniel relaxed again. "I took his daughter in here once for a week, until he got sober."

"There's a good many like that," pursued the other.

"Not so many."

"Enough to make trouble. Why not hurry a pistol?"

"I've got a gun, but I've got it with me," said Gilchrist with quiet rejection.

"One of them fellows get you—"

Gilchrist put him off with a gesture as Mary Margaret came into the room.

"I suppose you ain't had any supper," she said with a motherly air. Grubbs had followed her in with a tray and the girl, leaning on her crutches, transferred its cargo to the table in front of Daniel.

Umaniski drew out a pocketbook and came alongside.

"I've got some money," he said. "My boss give me another raise. He gonna make me boss after a while. So I like to begin to pay back what you lend me."

Gilchrist waved him aside.

"Wait 'till you've sent for your family," he said, making no move to accept the proffered bill.

"I'm gonna send now," said Umaniski, smiling. "My boy I'm gonna send school—college, maybe. That pump I make goes fine. I show my boss like you say, because he know about coal mines, and he say if she look like she's whole lots of lives and money. She work all right. He dropped the bill on the table and brought forth an English grammar from under his coat. "How about I go up-stairs and study?"

"Sure," said Gilchrist. "Go right up to my room and I'll be along after the meeting." Umaniski left Margaret Mary bending over him eagerly.

"Your supper's ready," she said. Gilchrist had caught sight of her feet, strangely adorned.

"What's this we're wearing, golden slippers?" he queried, looking up at her.

CYCLONE KILLS 3 IN ALABAMA

Five Others Suffer Serious Injuries

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 5.—A cyclone struck south into the home of J. W. Wallace Carpenter, 12 miles from here last night, killing three members of his family and injuring four others.

The family with the exception of the pastor were at the dinner table at 6:15 p. m. when the storm struck. The house was dashed to pieces.

The dead are Mrs. Cora Carpenter, 30, and two sons Clarence, 17, and Earle, 15.

The injured are: Mildred, 11; Herman, 12; Matthew, 7, and Woodrow Carpenter, 2.

When members of the family were taken to the home, they found the ruins of the house in a pile of debris. The dead were badly mangled. The injured were found partially buried beneath the debris.

MAH JONGG ENTICED

AH TAK TOO MUCH

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Ah Tak, Chinese gambler, said a fine of $100 to custom authorities Wednesday for an alleged attempt to smuggle 45 mah jongg sets into the United States.

Ah Tak explained that the Chinese gamblers were superstitious. When one lost heavily at the game, he threw the offending set into the sea. Therefore, he added, it was necessary to carry from 50 to 100 sets aboard.

COLLEGE PRESERVES DIME NOVEL CLASSICS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—The dime thriller, once ubiquitous, by material effect, is now to be accorded a place of honor on the shelves of Stanford University, California.

They will hold place—2,400 of them—among rare and valuable curiosities of ancient literature. Thus, through the generosity of the donor, an eastern man, will be preserved to posterity the epic of hair-raising incidents which thrilled the latter nineteenth century youth as they read surreptitiously in hay loft or behind the fence.

WOMAN OFFERS $100 FOR COINED WORD

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 5.—A prize of $100 for the best synonym for "cofficient" is offered by Mrs. Rose R. Scott of New Haven.

"I will pay $100," she said, "for the best coined word which will effect mean one who scoffs at the God-given privileges of liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

KANSAS CITY GUNMAN KILLED BY OFFICERS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 5.—Lee H. Bird, gunman and bandit, was shot to death here in a duel with two patrolmen when he attempted to hold up a gasoline filling station.

BURIED UNDER CEMENT ONLY SLIGHTLY HURT

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Feb. 5.—Buried under 14 tons of cement which fell while he was unloading a ship, Frederick Goodland, was found standing erect, suffering only from shock.

Booze Ring is All-Powerful in Great Britain Yet Nation Faces Rum-Running Problem

By MILTON BRONNER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 5.—A dark night. Fog along the coast. A traveler comes to a deserted cove with its load of innocent fish—and not so innocent booze.

No, this is not about the United States rum row where ships are smuggling British booze to American bootleggers. This particular story deals with British boats which smuggle French booze into Great Britain.

For just as anti-booze rules the coast in the United States, so booze is all powerful in Great Britain.

It is powerful in parliament, powerful in the party machines, powerful in society and powerful in the press. It even has its friends in the churches. It has no strenuous opposition in the colleges and universities. It permeates all branches of British life. This is why the makers of beer, whisky and gin in Britain don't worry much.

Perhaps now the "Beerage" The last parliament had in the house of lords 12 members who were directors in ten of the whisky or brewery concerns. A number of these had made their entire fortune out of booze. In the house of commons there were 10 brewers and distillers interested in 27 companies whose capital stock was a quarter of a billion dollars.

None of the big newspapers of Great Britain is owned by the beer and whisky lords but the press as a whole is favorable to their business for two reasons: the owners think the public sentiment favors the wine and the owners make huge sums out of booze advertisements. Makers of well-known brands of whisky, beer and gin take columns of space in British newspapers to boost their wares.

Not only that, but the big department stores of Great Britain have liquor departments on a scale of lavishness never known even in New York and Chicago. It is no unusual thing to see these department stores taking a quarter of a page at a huge price to advertise their beverages in liquor. It is no unusual thing to see some old wine brandy in its phrase of 100-year-old brandy with the very seal of the grape—and only $50 a bottle!

With Great Britain the most highly taxed country in the world, the booze interests have another potent argument. They point out that owing to high taxes on their business, alcohol has yielded on an increased revenue of about three quarters of a billion dollars per annum which could not be raised so easily and so expeditiously any place else.

And so just as bootlegging is a recognized "business" doing our country, so bootlegging is a recognized "business" doing our country.

In the United States prohibition is the cause of bootlegging. In England the main cause of smuggling is taxes.

Before the war the British revenue tax on French brandy and on European wines was merely nominal.

BRITISH FISHERMEN SMUGGLE IN FOREIGN MADE LIQUOR.

It didn't pay to smuggle. After-war conditions changed this. The endeavor to make his budget balance, the government has soaked liquor with a very heavy duty.

A bottle of whisky which sells retail at twelve shillings and six shillings and five pence half penny. In other words, two-thirds of what the consumer pays for the booze is government tax. Half of what the consumer pays for French brandy is accounted for by government tax. Wines are taxed anywhere from two shillings up to 6 and 8 shillings per gallon.

Fishermen Get Rich Running Rum With a government tax of over $2 per bottle, the smuggler can easily afford to take the risk and split what is saved on the tax. In other words, he can sell his booze to the dealer for $1 less than it would have cost him to buy from regular wholesalers.

Often the smuggler can get the full price that is paid for booze on which the tax is paid for this reason: brandy that goes through the government hands is watered down to a certain proof. Brandy that comes by way of the smuggler is not watered down. It is full strength and therefore worth far more to the drinker.

The business of booze smuggling in England is almost entirely in the hands of the fishermen of the southern English coast. Every morning these men put forth in their steam trawlers or gasoline motor boats and head across the English channel to the fishing sections near the French coast. Here they also find French and Belgian fishermen, who sell brandy, rum, wine and liquor by case loads.

In the evening the British return with two loads: one for night fishing and one for daylight. They have their pals along the coast who guide them to secluded coves by means of signal lamps. Here the booze is quietly landed. The fishing boats then innocently make for the nearest harbor which has a fish market, anchor for the night, and dispose of their fish in the morning.

The owner of a fishing boat can make more out of his contraband booze than out of his fish.

Tanlac Saved Life Says Texas Citizen

"I firmly believe that Tanlac saved my life," is the remarkable statement of A. W. McClellan, esteemed city employee, of 25 North 11th St., Paris, Texas.

"Eight years ago, I was taken with congestive chills and after the fever left me I lay in bed too weak to move and without the slightest appetite. I went for days at a time without eating and just drifted away until I only weighed one hundred pounds. They said I would never get well and I had given up all hope.

"Well, sir, Tanlac gave me an appetite and soon had my strength coming back steadily, and after my fourth bottle I was able to get up. When I finished my ninth and last bottle, my weight had actually gone up twenty-eight pounds. I felt strong and well, and would do a big day's work. As long as I live, I will feel grateful to Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

SECRET CREEP IN TAXES

Governor Parker Suspended
Northwestern Official

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 5.—Sheriff Fred Carpenter, of the house party, has been suspended on order of Governor Frank B. Parks following the discovery of a cash shortage in his tax collector's office. The shortage was found by a special audit.

Sheriff Carpenter was charged with a shortage of $1,000.00 in his accounts several weeks ago, said to have been due to fraud. He was suspended pending a full audit. This was made good and the cash shortage found by a special audit.

CYCLONE KILLS 3 IN ALABAMA

Five Others Suffer Serious Injuries

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 5.—A cyclone struck south into the home of Rev. Wallace Carpenter, 12 miles from here last night, killing three members of his family and injuring four others.

The family with the exception of the pastor were at the dinner table at 4:15 p. m. when the storm struck. The house was dashed to pieces. The dead were Mrs. Core Carpenter, 36, and two sons Clarence, 17, and Earle, 15.

The injured are: Mildred, 11; Herman, 12; Matthew, 7, and Woodrow Carpenter, 2.

When ambulances from Birmingham went to the home, they found the ruins surrounded by fallen trees. The dead were badly mangled. The injured were found partially buried beneath the debris.

MAH JONGG ENTICED AH TAK TOO MUCH

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Ah Tak, Chinese steward on the liner Empress of China, paid a fine of $100 to custom authorities Wednesday for an alleged attempt to smuggle 48 mah jongg sets into the United States.

Ah Tak explained that the Chinese seamen were superstitious. When one lost heavily at the game, he threw the offending set into the sea. Therefore, he added, it was necessary to carry from 50 to 100 sets aboard.

COLLEGE PRESERVES DIME NOVEL CLASSICS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—The dime thriller, once mentioned by Mark Twain, is now to be recorded a place of honor on the shelves of Stanford university, California.

They will hold place—2,400 of them—among rare and valuable curiosities of ancient literature. Thus, through the generosity of the donor, an eastern man, will be preserved to posterity the epic of hair-raising incidents which thrilled the latter nineteenth century youth as they read surreptitiously in hay loft or behind the fence.

WOMAN OFFERS $100 FOR COINED WORD

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 5.—A prize of $100 for the best definition for "cofflaw" is offered by Mrs. Rose R. Scott of New Haven.

"I will pay $100," she said, "for the best definition of a word which in effect means one who works at the God-given privileges of liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Feb. 5.—Buried under 14 tons of cement which fell while he was unloading a ship, Frederick Gould, was found standing erect, suffering only from shock.

Booze Ring is All-Powerful in Great Britain Yet Nation Faces Rum-Running Problem

By MILTON BRONNER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Feb. 5.—A dark night. Fog along the coast. A traveler comes to a deserted shore with its load of innocent fish—and not so innocent booze.

No, this is not about the United States run row where ships are smuggling British booze to American bootleggers. This particular story deals with British boats which smuggle French booze into merry England.

For just as anti-booze rules the coast in the United States, so booze is all powerful in Great Britain. It is powerful in parliament, powerful in the party machines, powerful in society and powerful in the press. It even has its friends in the churches. It has no strenuous opposition in the colleges and universities. It permeates all branches of British life. That is why the British of beer, whisky and gin in Britain don't worry much.

Peasage Now the "Booze" The last parliament had in the house of lords 12 members who were directors in ten big whisky or brewery concerns. A number of them had made their entire fortune out of booze. In the house of commons there were 16 brewers and distillers, interested in 27 companies whose capital stock was a quarter of a billion dollars.

None of the big newspapers of Great Britain is owned by the beer and whisky lords, but the news as a whole is favorable to their business for two reasons: the owners think the public sentiment favors the sale and the owners make huge sums out of booze advertisements. Millions of well-known brands of whisky, beer and gin take columns of space in British newspapers to boost their wares.

Not only that, but the big department stores of Great Britain have liquor departments on a scale of largeness never known even in New York and Chicago. It is no unusual thing to see these department stores taking a quarter of a page at a large price to advertise their bargain in liquor. It is no unusual thing to see some of the big liquor stores in its phrase of 100-year-old brandy—"the very soul of the grape"—and only $50 a bottle!

With Great Britain the most highly taxed country in the world, the booze interests have another potential argument. They point out that owing to high taxes on their business, alcohol has crept out on the increased revenue of about three quarters of a billion dollars per annum which could not be covered so easily and so expeditiously in any place else.

And so just as bootlegging is a recognized "business" along our coast, so smuggling is a recognized "business" along the English coast. So much so that parliament has been asked to provide money for a coast-guard.

In the United States prohibition is the cause of bootlegging. In England the main cause of smuggling is taxes.

Before the war the British revenue tax on French brandy and on European wines was merely nominal.

BRITISH FISHERMEN SMUGGLE IN FOREIGN MADE LIQUOR.

It didn't pay to smuggle.

After-war conditions changed this endeavor to make its budget balance. The government has sorted an liquor with a very heavy duty. A bottle of whisky which sells retail at twelve shillings and six pence, already been taxed 5 shillings and 5 pence half penny. In other words, two-thirds of what the consumer pays for the booze is government tax. Half of what the consumer pays for French brandy is accounted for by government tax. Wines are taxed anywhere from two shillings, up to 6 and 8 shillings per gallon.

Fishermen Get Rich Running Rum With a government tax of over $2 per bottle, the smuggler can easily afford to take the risk and split what is saved on the tax. In other words, he can sell his booze to the dealer for $1 less than it would have cost him to buy from regular wholesalers.

Often the smuggler can get the full price that is paid for booze on which the tax is paid for this reason: brandy that goes through government hands is watered down to a certain proof. Brandy that comes by way of the smuggler is not watered down. It is full strength and therefore worth far more to the dealer.

The business of booze smuggling in England is almost entirely in the hands of the fishermen of the south-east. The fishermen of the south-east are not only English coast, but every morning these men put forth in their steam trawlers or gasoline motor boats and head across the English channel to the fishing sections near the French coast. Here they also find French and Belgian fishermen, who sell brandy, rum, wine and liquor by case loads.

In the evening the British return with two loads, one for night and fishing and one for daylight. They have their pots along the coast who guide them to secluded coves by means of signal lamps. Here the booze is quietly landed. The fishing boats then innocently make for the nearest harbor which has a fish market, anchor for the night, and dispose of their fish in the morning.

The owner of a fishing boat can make more out of his contraband booze than out of his fish.

James, handed Levermore a check for $50,000. The second half of the $100,000 offered by Edward W. Bok, publisher, for a practical peace plan, will be given Levermore if the United States or an overwhelming referendum of the people approve it.

Tanlac Saved Life
Says Texas Citizen

"I firmly believe that Tanlac saved my life," is the remarkable statement of A. W. McElhann, esteemed city employee, of 25 North 11th St., Paris, Texas.

"Eight years ago, I was taken with congestive chills and after two weeks of me I was in bed too weak to move and without the slightest appetite. I went for days at a time without eating and just dwindled away until I only weighed one hundred pounds. They said I would never get well and I had given up all hope.

"Well, sir, Tanlac gave me an appetite and soon had my strength coming back steadily, and after my fourth bottle I was able to get up. When I finished my ninth and last bottle, my weight had actually gone up twenty-eight pounds. I felt strong and well, and could do a big day's work. As long as I live, I will feel grateful to Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

SHERIFF CHECKS IN TAXES SHORT

Governor Parker Suspends Morehouse/Official

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 5.—Sheriff Fred Carpenter of Morehouse parish has been suspended from office by Governor John M. Parks following the discovery of a severe shortage in his tax collection amounting to more than three thousand dollars, it was stated here today.

Sheriff Carpenter was checked short more than eighteen thousand dollars in his accounts several weeks ago, said to have been due to friends failing to meet promised payment. This sum was made good and the shortage found by a subsequent audit.

Is the Moon Man your big brother?

"You'll guess this riddle first crack out of the box," said the Riddle Lady. "But we have had so many hard ones I thought this would be nice for a change. This isn't a summer riddle or a winter riddle. It's a fair weather riddle, though, for unless it's reasonably fine weather you can't see the thing the riddle is about. Listen now everybody: Nancy and Ned, come up close beside me where you can hear:

"I've seen you run a scooting clear across the sky a shooting. Who brings you home, I'd like to know. When you go?"

"Do Uncle Mars and Auntie Venus say, 'We'll get him home between us'?"

And lead you 'long the Milky Way. When it's day?"

"It's a star!" cried everybody. "Well, well!" laughed the Riddle Lady. "I should say you did guess it."

But just then a new voice spoke up. It was the Man in the Moon who had tumbled down, and was about to ask his way to Norwich.

"That's a very nice riddle," he declared. "But some day when I have more time I'll come and tell you all about stars and why they run off sometimes and everything like that. And I'll tell you all about the Milky Way, too, for you know it really isn't made of milk at all. But I must not stay. I really must go to Norwich to find out when I can get back to the Moon. There isn't anybody there to run it tonight if I don't get back. And it's likely to run off its track and wreck a thousand little stars."

Mother Goose spoke up then. "No need for that," she said. "I'll take you back on my magic broom."

"Better still," put in Daddy Gander. "I'll take you on my magic duitman and the Twins can go along."

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Uncle Ray

CHAPTER 103

Zeus, King of the Gods

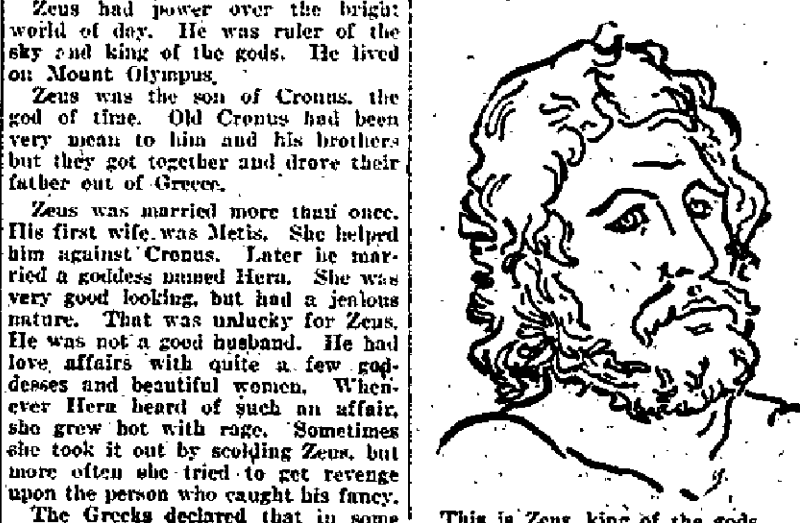

Zeus was the chief Greek god. He had two brothers, Poseidon and Hades. The three divided power over the world.

Poseidon became ruler of the seas. Hades took control of the underworld, the Kingdom of the dead.

Zeus had power over the bright world of day. He was ruler of the sky and king of the gods. He lived on Mount Olympus.

Zeus was the son of Cronus, the god of time. Old Cronus had been very mean to him and his brothers but they got together and drove their father out of Greece.

Zeus was married more than once. His first wife was Metis. She helped him against Cronus. Later he married a goddess named Hera. She was very good looking, but had a jealous nature. That was unlucky for Zeus. He was not a good husband. He had love affairs with quite a few goddesses and beautiful women. Whenever Hera heard of such an affair, she grew hot with rage. Sometimes she took it out by scolding Zeus, but more often she tried to get revenge upon the person who caught his fancy. The Greeks declared that in some KICKED HIS DOG AROUND SARANAC LAKE, N. Y. (United Press).—A man at Brasher Falls has an Alredale dog that once saved his life. Naturally he is fond of the animal, so much so in fact that he has offered a cash reward of not stantial proportions for information that will lead to the arrest of a youth that recently gave the dog a violent kick, as it was passing a group of boys. The owner states he will prosecute the matter.

CONCERT UNIQUE PROMISES FUN

Sousaphone and Marimba Band Features

What promises to be an evening of music of a unique character, the Port Arthur school band, under the direction of Mr. Lantz, will give a concert at the Port Arthur school building, on Thursday night.

Mr. Lantz and his "boys" have worked almost exclusively for the past few months preparing their program, and are now ready to present it to the public.

Realizing that it is almost impossible for even professionals to "put over" the concert with an entire program of music, Mr. Lantz has been able to secure a repertoire of 15 pieces, popular music and classical, to be played.

It is the hope that can be seen from the list of last year and this year's winners and losers at the Arthur's feet. It is the same band, another year's training, plus the Marimba element, and plus the Sousaphone.

Mr. Lantz says a Sousaphone looks like a whistle still, and my curiosity to know what a whistle still. An experience of a Sousaphone artist.

For people have had the pleasure of hearing a real Marimba band, the band that played that weird scolding music of the "Forest primaver"—the music of the "Forest primaver". Students and professional musicians, some of the "Forest primaver" band, and with the addition of the Sousaphone, the band is now a "Forest primaver" band.

James Cedars, 11 years of age, played the piano, and those who heard him last year enjoyed his melody as well as his antics.

Altogether there will be about 100 taking part on the evening program—as many as 45 in an ensemble.

They present 17 numbers of "songs and nonsense."

PORT ARTHUR BACKS HOUSTON

Will Push East Texas For Centennial

Port Arthur today was the recipient of an invitation from Lowry Murkin, secretary of the Texas Centennial Celebration committee, on behalf of Governor Pat M. Neff, to participate in a conference of Texas cities to be held in Austin February 12 at which details for the coming centennial celebration of the state will be formulated.

Five Week Exposition
The invitation, received by Art Burge, Chamber of Commerce secretary, urges all interested Texas cities to attend the conference.

At the meeting, the time and place of the exposition will be decided and it is understood there will develop considerable rivalry between the leading Texas cities for the celebration. Special rivalry is expected between Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Austin and Houston.

Port Arthur has been requested to support Houston, Secretary Burge said to the Chamber of Commerce of that city having urged that it will be to the best interests of Southern Texas and the Gulf coast country "to stick together."

Burge Backs Houston
Speaking of the Houston possibilities, Burge said that "it will be a splendid thing for Port Arthur if Houston is awarded the celebration because of the decided advantage to this section. Houston has water, lumber, rice, oil, cotton and cattle. It is the gateway to Mexico and the Rio Grande valley."

Cato Sells of Fort Worth is executive chairman of the organization. It was learned, and plans are being made to make the celebration "one that will eclipse anything of the kind ever attempted in the United States, and one that will sell Texas to the world."

BIDS FOR PAINTING ELMSDALE SOUGHT

Sealed bids for painting the currant ship Lake Elmsdale, anchored at Sabine, will be received by Dr. T. J. Liddell, C. S. public health surgeon in charge of the Sabine district, up to February 23, on which date the bids will be opened, the public health chief said today.

The plans and specifications for the job call for chipping the old paint off the vessel, red lead and putting fresh paint on the hull and super structure of the vessel, Dr. Liddell said.

DEAD ARE UNBURIED

BERLIN (United Press).—The municipality of Berlin lies the bodies of deceased public charges in their dwellings awaiting burial until sufficient are reported from a given neighborhood to warrant sending a truck to gather them up, according to the Deutsche Tageszeitung, a Berlin newspaper. Berlin's efforts to economize are vicious and dangerous to public health and life, the paper declares.

ACID STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid Is Cause of Indigestion.

A well-known authority states that acid stomach and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases, which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, "lumpy" feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any grocery four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, to tone the gas-making organs, strengthen the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and other phosphates. This formula is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results.—Adv.

Chief Red Fox Will Show How Real Indians Dance

Kidding a real Indian with feathers and war paint and all is going to show how to dance a war dance and a snake dance, too, in Port Arthur. He's Chief Red Fox, and his visit to Port Arthur is set for Wednesday and Thursday, February 13 and 14. George M. Sims, superintendent of the city school system, said today.

Chief Red Fox likes "made faces" and he'll tell them about his life and how his Indian friends and relatives live nowadays, and also a great deal of what he makes by his work to the little tots in the Day Nursery here, the school superintendent said.

Plans are shaping up for the weekly Port Arthur "fox" and girl to be seen at the Chief Red Fox, on February 13, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, he will appear in Franklin school auditorium, and Thursday afternoon February 14, at 4 he will put on his show at the De Queen school auditorium. Then that same night at 8 o'clock he will repeat the performance in DeQueen school auditorium for the grown-up folk who want to see him, according to plans now made.

An amusing controversy once instigated by film censors as to the proper duration of a screen kiss. I forget how many feet were decided as necessary and proper for the osculatory process. Anyway, it is all a matter of business and the actor and actress are just as much working people as the man who builds a house or the woman who writes on a typewriter—plus a degree of artistic inspiration into their labors.

It isn't necessary to be in love with your victim in a love scene in order to convince. If it were otherwise, the leading people would have to be falling in and out of love every month or so.

THE SIX-FIFTY
AT THE LIBERTY
This is the title Universal might well have used for "The Six Fifty," but the name of the "stage play" was followed instead, for Universal doesn't adhere to tradition when it comes to producing original plays in an original way. For "The Six Fifty" is an original play. Audiences at the Liberty theater, where the powerful all-star offering is now being shown, testify to this. The audience is shown the very souls of two people; sees the working of dissonance, eating as a corrosive to undermine the wedded happiness of two lovers. A ray of faith in human nature shines a powerful lesson in the dramatic episodes and artistic entertainment of the picture.

KISSING ON THE STAGE
A MATTER OF BUSINESS
I have been asked a great many questions about the kiss in motion pictures and I am glad to say that the kiss is a matter of business. It is not a matter of love, but a matter of business. It is not a matter of love, but a matter of business. It is not a matter of love, but a matter of business.

Important to all Women Readers of This Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Your health and nervous system may be dependent on it. Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

SUCCESSOR TO MISS DO ALDSON NOT NAMED

While a number of applicants for the position of head of the High School English department are under advisement by school officials, no successor for Miss Mary Donaldson, now librarian at Gates Memorial library, has been selected, G. M. Sims, superintendent of the city schools, said today.

Miss Donaldson resigned as head of the high school English department following her election as librarian to succeed Mrs. E. S. Carter, resigned, and left the school February 1 for her new duties at the library.

OLD FLINT SHOTGUN 1833 FOUND IN TEXAS

WAXAHACHIE, Feb. 5.—A Flint shotgun, bearing the inscription "Bar 11, 1833," was found by Jim Henderson and Vance Davenport between the walls of the house on the old Philip Chapman farm near Orilla when the two men were repairing and remodeling the structure recently.

The date on the gun makes it 91 years old. According to Mr. Henderson the flint piece is in a good state of preservation.

At present the farm is owned by J. B. Larkin of Dallas, but it was formerly the possession of Carey Wilson of this city.

FOUR FORT WORTH WOMEN ARE HONORED

DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 5.—Four Fort Worth women have been named members of the reception committee honoring women of national importance who will come to Dallas on February 6 for an informal reception ushering in the mid-winter council of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs. This executive committee will continue through February 9.

Miss Orena Addison, president of the Dallas club, is chairman of the reception committee.

OBJECT TO SUNDAY OLYMPICS
PARIS (United Press).—Vire Liddell, Scottish earner, has advised the Olympic Games committee that he cannot compete in the 100 metres event because it is scheduled to be held on Sunday and it is against his principles to race on the Sabbath.

Many other athletes will, it is believed, be influenced the same way, and shortly there is said to be a petition of the press to change the Sunday dates.

NEPTUNE BEATS KING

MADRID (United Press).—Sickness has a slave. He is Alfonso XIII, king of Spain. The king loves the sea and would rather walk the bridge of a ship than sit on the throne. But the royal ambitions and the royal stomach don't mix. This was painfully demonstrated on the recent voyage of the Spanish rulers to Italy. His majesty was terribly sick most of the time.
